

Graduation Finale

The field is empty, the graduates off to celebrate, and all that remains is for the traditional caps and gowns to be piled up, boxed and put away for another year. This was the scene at the Eugene Lovely Field last Friday night not too long after the conclusion of the Andover High graduation exercises as Larry Albach of University Cap and Gown gathered and boxed the ceremonial garb. Complete commencement details are in a special 36-page graduation section in today's TOWNSMAN.

Chances Dim For South Main Street Funeral Home Plan

By Susan Rand

Paul Bekkenhuis' funeral home proposal met with opposition from over a dozen of the South Main Street residents he hopes will be his neighbors at Tuesday night's Zoning Board of Appeals meeting.

His chances don't look so good for board approval either as a tentative vote taken at the 326 South Main Street site on Saturday morning by the five Appeals Board members yielded a unanimous no.

Bekkenhuis, who owns and runs the Edgerley and Bessom Funeral Home, in Reading, is petitioning the board for a variance that will allow him to construct a funeral home with living quarters for his family upstairs at 326 South Main St., on land now owned by Florence Neal.

The only support for Bekkenhuis' plan came from the South Church pastor who, in a letter, said a funeral home was needed in town adding that Bekkenhuis ran a much recommended funeral home in North Reading.

Bekkenhuis' attorney, Andrew Caffrey Jr., of Andover, argued on Tuesday night that a funeral home would not be detrimental to the Route 28 neighborhood. But South Main Street neighbors, who stayed at the appeals meeting for three and one half hours to hear the discussion, last on the agenda, told Appeals Board members they didn't want a business in their neighborhood.

Wesley Whitney, chairman of the Appeals Board, told THE TOWNSMAN that voting along with him on Saturday to disapprove the variance were Ernest Hall, Roger Collins, Carol McDonough and Maureen Franco. The board decision will be finalized after Whitney writes the board opinion and a binding vote is taken on that report. The vote will be announced at the next board meeting, set for Thursday, July 5.

The crux of Caffrey's argument was that the 1.62 acres of land and two buildings at 326 South Main St. are run-down and to improve them would be wasting money. He said the farmhouse would need considerable work and the building currently used as Neal's nursery school could not be used for a residence.

Bekkenhuis hopes to tear down the buildings and erect a large, white colonial style home with what Caffrey called a "sweeping lawn." The lawyer said the home would fit in with the other large homes in the neighborhood. But neighbors disagreed.

John Baker, 229 South Main St., told the board he thought the "ante-bellum architecture" wasn't appropriate for the area. Baker also likened Caffrey's proposal for a business use in a residential area to his letting his South Main Street home deteriorate and then selling the land to the McDonald's chain of restaurants so they could take down his home and put a restaurant there.

Atty. Carmen DiAdamo, who represented Francis and Jennifer Drozdick, 330 South Main St., said putting a funeral business on South Main Street was not just a "little encroachment" of business in the residential neighborhood.

"It is like pushing an elephant through a keyhole," he said. "I don't know of too many residential neighborhoods with a 60-car parking lot in them."

Neal has run a nursery school on the site for 44 years. This year her 18 graduating tots will be her last as she retires from teaching.

Bekkenhuis' plans included two funeral parlors in the home and parking for 60 to 65 cars which Caffrey said would be shaded with landscaping.

"This would not have a commercial look to it," said Caffrey. "And it would blend in with the other residences."

Whitney asked the attorney if there was evidence that Neal's land was not usable for

O'Brien Is Intern For Sen. McGovern

John D. O'Brien, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. O'Brien, Sr., 7 Serenity Lane, Andover, has been hired as a legal intern this summer for the Committee on Criminal Justice of which Sen. Patricia McGovern (D-Lawrence) is the chairperson. He will assist Sen. McGovern chief counsel on legislation concerning presumptive sentencing, drunk driving and drug abuse.

O'Brien, a Brown University graduate, will enter his third year of law school this fall at Suffolk University. In January he entered and won the coveted and prestigious Justice Thomas E. Clark Moot Court Competition. In January 1985 he will compete in the National Moot Court Team Competition.

Sen. McGovern expressed that, "I am extremely delighted to have an intern of John's caliber working on staff. His great attention to detail and his enthusiasm to work in the public sector will be an asset to my office."

A roadmap will tell a motorist everything he wants to know except how to fold it up again.

Town House Topics

Barrels Will Bloom Next Week

The town manager's whiskey barrels have arrived — and they'll be bursting into bloom next week.

Large wooden barrels have been set up along Main Street sidewalks during the past several days, the first step in a joint effort of the town and the Center Merchants Association to bring a bit of summertime color to the downtown area.

Andover has provided the barrels, and the merchants will provide the flowers to fill them. The Andover Garden Club will also participate in the project. Club members will donate their time next Tuesday to plant the flowers in the barrels, according to association president Mary Doherty.

The merchants' association will maintain the plantings throughout the summer. Next fall, the Public Works Department will put the barrels into storage for the winter.

Town Manager Kenneth Mahony, inspired by flower-filled barrels on Lexington's downtown streets, won the selectmen's approval for the beautification project earlier this spring.

Parking Conditions Improved

If members of the Board of Selectmen have visited Barron's Country Store in West Andover this week — as the town manager requested last Monday night — they've undoubtedly noticed that the convenience store's parking lot has a new look.

Lines have been painted in the lot around the busy store, located at the corner of Lowell Street and Haggetts Pond Road, to indicate where vehicles may park. And "No Parking" warnings have been stenciled around the perimeter of the lot.

The new lines seem to have inspired neater parking around the store, where drivers have customarily parked as they please — sometimes in the middle of Haggetts Pond Road.

Town Manager Kenneth Mahony last week asked the selectmen to drive by and take a look at Barron's lot as a prelude to a discussion of traffic safety problems in the area. Because there are no curbs around the lot, drivers have been known to cut across the lot from Lowell Street to Haggetts Pond Road, he said.

Land Use In Agenda For Selectmen

The Board of Selectmen will talk about Andover's playing fields, while the Planning Board will discuss land use in general, during upcoming meetings this month.

The selectmen will meet at 7:30 Monday night at the town offices on Bartlet Street, and their agenda includes a general discussion of all town playing fields — their use and maintenance. Shawsheen Village residents are also expected to appear before the board to talk about the possible location of a new Municipal Maintenance building.

And the planners will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 26, at the town offices. Under the heading of land use (as part of their ongoing work on the comprehensive plan update), they'll discuss multiple-family housing and parking. Another possible agenda item: consumer services in West Andover.

Planners Postpone Session

A Planning Board meeting scheduled for Tuesday night of this week has been postponed until 7:30 next Tuesday night, June 19. The board will meet at the town offices on Bartlet Street.

Community Development and Planning Director Jonathan Gilmore explained that this week's meeting was cancelled for lack of a quorum.

Among the topics scheduled for the meeting are the revision of planning board rules and regulations, one-lot subdivisions, the development of "marginal" lots, and a subdivision proposed for a site on High Plain Road, next to the Golden Oaks subdivision.

Morris Is Named Advertising Manager

Edward Morris, a junior political science major at St. Michael's College, Winooski, Vt., has earned a staff position on the college's weekly student newspaper, "The Defender," for the 1984-85 school year. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Richard Morris of Andover.

Morris is the advertising manager for the SMC weekly paper. He will supervise an advertising staff and design and sell ads.

Al Tremblay, executive editor of "The Defender," said Morris has a lot of ingenuity and organizational skills. With his assistance and the paper's staff, Tremblay intends to increase the size and scope of the award-winning publication. St. Michael's College, founded in 1903 and headed by President Edward L. Henry, is Vermont's largest Catholic, liberal arts and sciences institution. The four-year, co-educational college has an enrollment of 1,600 undergraduate and some 500 graduate and international student program students.

L'Antigua Directing Program

A former Andover resident, Paul A. L'Antigua, is directing a family gathering of the descendants of Christopher Grant who came to America in 1630 and was the brother of Matthew Grant from whom descended Ulysses S. Grant, 18th president of the United States. The event is planned for July in Waltham. While living in Andover and as a result of research, L'Antigua, because of descent from Col. Christopher Grant of Watertown, organized the largest chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution in New England. He was president of the United Rubber Workers Local at the old Tye Rubber Company and a candidate for the state legislature.

Now retired after 30 years teaching special education with the Commonwealth, L'Antigua and his wife were recent recipients of the American Association of Retired Persons annual Good Citizen Award for their "many years of volunteer service dedicated to the improvement of the health and needs of the elderly on Cape Cod." Any descendants of Christopher or Matthew Grant may contact L'Antigua at 11 Merganser Lane, West Yarmouth, MA 02673, or at the Yarmouth Senior Citizens Center.

Nuclear Freeze Group To Canvas

Members of the Greater Lawrence Interfaith Council for a Nuclear Freeze and Andover Citizens for a Nuclear Freeze will sponsor a door-to-door canvass in portions of Andover and Lawrence on Saturday, June 16. The all-volunteer effort will sign up voters who pledge to support pro-freeze candidates in the next election and will also recruit volunteers and donations to help the national freeze campaign.

Local coordinator for the canvass is Katherine Robinson, 50 Wild Rose Drive, Andover, who, along with her parents, Joyce and Willard Robinson, have been working on the freeze effort for the past three years. Other workers from Andover who have already indicated they will be among those ringing doorbells are: Ann Guzowski of Locke Stret, Tom Meyer of Gennie Drive and Walter McKertich of Washington Avenue.

Others from the Lawrence group will join to canvass precincts 1, 2 and 3 in Andover and wards 5 and 6 in Lawrence. Those listed would welcome volunteers for the Saturday event. This will be the initial effort to focus the overwhelming support for the freeze upon the upcoming elections.

Freeze Voter '84 is the nuclear weapons freeze movement's political arm. It is organizing electoral support for a mutual, verifiable freeze on the testing, production and deployment of nuclear weapons by both the U.S. and Soviet Union. With a goal of enlisting over one million freeze voters, volunteers and contributors into an election year Freeze Force, the Washington based political action committee will target key U.S. House and Senate races, as well as the Presidential race.

"First we tried changing the politicians' minds. Now we are going to change the politicians," said Bill Curry, Freeze Voter '84's executive director. Curry noted that the volunteer canvass was "the heart and soul of our election effort. We expect that reaching out in this way will help a great many voters make the connection between the issue and the actors before they decide which candidates deserve their support."

Saturday's canvass is one of 20 such canvasses planned nationwide for this weekend. "We expect to be joined in our local canvass effort by several participants in previous freeze voter canvasses, which have been held throughout Massachusetts this Spring," noted Robinson. Canvassers will meet at GLEAM, 2 Wyman St., Lawrence, at 9:30 a.m. for a brief training session before the canvass. Those interested should contact Katherine Robinson.

Garrett Players Win First Place

The Garrett Players of Lawrence won first place in the New England Regional Festival recently at Spingold Theater, Brandeis University.

Their production of "Terry Won't Talk" by the Cambridge playwright Mark Lieb garnered several awards, some of them won by local residents.

Keith Sherman of Andover was named Best Stage Manager and Warren Manzi of Methuen received the Best Director award. Runner-up awards went to Susan Lenoe of Andover and Alan Blanchard of North Andover who were nominated as best actress and best actor. Jay McManus of Littleton was named Best Supporting actor and Jane Wiseman of Stoneham was nominated for Best Supporting Actress.

The Garrett cast won the award for Best Ensemble.

The cast also includes Jay Stone, Jean-Marie Barrille, Debbie Salois of North Andover, Paul J. Kiernan, Stephen Sheehan, Paul Sanscartier and Vita Rolfsen.

Other Garrett participants included Marilyn Wales who designed the lights, Mary Jo Grillo of Andover, costume designer, Robert Perry, makeup, Joanne Lovecchio, props, Kathleen Fionte, assistant director, Kitty O'Brien, assistant stage manager, Heidi Sheehan, assistant lighting designer, and Neil Gustafson, sound.

Garrett member Wayne J.C. Leocata was stage manager for the festival.

The Garrett is presently in rehearsal for the musical "Annie" which opens at Giodano's Dinner Theater in Georgetown in July.

Concert In Methuen Wednesday

The Rev. David Gallagher will present a recital on the old Boston Music Hall organ at the Methuen Memorial Music Hall on Wednesday, June 20, at 8:30 p.m. He will be assisted by the Copley Brass Players: Paul Brody and Terence McGinty, trumpets, John Faieta and Kevin Owyang, trombones.

Fr. Gallagher received his Bachelor and Master of Music degrees from Boston University. He has served as associate organist of the Old South Church in Boston and music director at St. Joseph's Parish in Lynn. He was appointed director of music at St. John's Seminary in Brighton in August 1983. Fr. Gallagher has played many recitals in the United States and Europe.

He has selected for his program: Grand Choeur Dialogue, Eugene Gigout: "La Feliciania," Adriano Banchieri: "Fantasia," "Giovanna Gabrieli," "La Organistina Bella," Adriano Banchieri: "Andante Amante," David F. Gallagher: "Chanson IX," Costanzo Antegnati: "Prelude and Fugue in b minor," Johann Sebastian Bach: "Toccata from Athalanta," Aurelio Bonelli: "Fantasia in A," Cesar Franck: "Fugue, K. 401," Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart: "Fantasia in f minor," Mozart: "Notturmo," Nikolai Rimsky-Korsakov: "Christ ist Erstanden," Richard Purvis: "Gloria" from the Christmas Cantata, Daniel Pinkham.

The Music Hall is located on Broadway

Van Aken Completes Training

Pvt. Grant W. Van Aken, son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Van Aken, 9 Wolcott Avenue, Andover, has completed one station unit training (OSUT) at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training.

The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. Completion of this course qualifies the soldier as a light-weapons infantryman and as an indirect-fire crewman.

Soldiers were taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad.

Van Aken is a 1984 graduate of Andover High School.

Annual Council Meeting

The U.S. Senatorial candidates will address health issues at the 1984 annual meeting of the Merrimack Valley Health Planning Council Monday, June 25, at the Sheraton Rolling Green Inn in Andover. A fund-raising dinner will take place at 6:30 p.m. The annual meeting will begin promptly at 7:30 p.m. The meeting is open to the public at no charge.

Each senatorial candidate will be allotted time to address selected issues such as Medicare, hospital cost containment, balance billing and an environmental issue. Following these brief presentations, a panel of three or four individuals will ask the candidates to respond to questions.

An abbreviated board of trustees meeting consisting of reports from the chairman of the board, executive director and treasurer will follow the candidates' program. Gordon White, chairman of the nominating committee, will announce results of the board of trustees' election and Dorothy Winn, chairman of the board, will present certificates of recognition to individuals serving the council during the past year. Winn will also give closing remarks. Deadline for dinner reservations is June 18. A count is also needed for annual meeting seating by June 22.

To Study At Oxford

An Andover woman is the second Brandeis University woman selected to spend her junior year abroad at Oxford University, in Oxford, England.

Stacey Alickman, 20, will study politics at Oxford's Somerville College for women in September. She is a political science major at Brandeis, Waltham. Alickman has maintained a 3.5 cumulative average in her two years at the university.

Besides her studies, the Andover woman, who hopes to go to law school after Brandeis, is a three-letter winner for her participation on both the school's track and cross-country teams. She is a 1982 graduate of Andover High School.

Stacey is the daughter of Linda and Irwin Alickman, 3 Yardley Drive.

On Dean's List

Mark E. Dunn, 175 Great Pond Road, and William B. Gerraughty, 31 Carty Circle, both of North Andover, and Frederick B. Howard, 7 Homestead Circle, Andover, have been named to the Dean's List at Babson College for the 1984 spring semester.

Babson is an independent coeducational college offering graduate and undergraduate degrees in business administration. It is one of the few colleges in the country to offer a major in entrepreneurial studies. The school, founded in 1919, is accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges and was the first non-university affiliated college to be accredited by the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business.

Auditions For Pianists Scheduled

Piano auditions of the National Guild of Piano Teachers will be held throughout the Merrimack Valley this week. This area is one of more than 700 audition centers in the U.S.

Students, aged four to adult, seek excellence in piano playing by working for goals and awards in private auditions on a non-competitive basis. Pianists enter at levels according to age and length of time studied. Each receives a report card with constructive comments from the adjudicator and a certificate and pin enrolling him as a member of the National Fraternity of Student Musicians.

Adjudicators are selected by the guild headquarters in Austin, TX. Catherine Baird of South Burlington, VT, will judge the auditions. She is a graduate of the University of Michigan and is on the faculty of St. Michael's College, Winooski, VT. Baird concertizes with the well-known Philadelphia Orchestra cellist, Elsa Hilgr. They perform regularly on college and community concert series along the eastern seaboard.

Students of June Persing, Andover, who will perform in these auditions are Lorian Buehler, Jennifer Preisig, Jane Berube, David Bernstein, Jeffrey Johnson, Dianne Jurgen, Erika Vowinkel, Sharon Hastings, Jeffrey Grace, Kristen Rumson, Corinne Nitzsche, Karen Maxwell and Nancy Helinski.

Each student will perform from memory five to 15 pieces in addition to demonstrating various technical skills.

The leotard gets its name from the person who first wore one, Jules Leotard, a famous French aerialist of the 19th century, who starred in many Paris and London circuses.

There Might Be A Tear Or Two At This Nursery School Graduation

By Sue Aucella Deacon

With her retirement tomorrow, Florence Neal will leave behind more than a career. She will be leaving what has become "a way of life" — 44 years of doing "the only thing I ever wanted to do."

Mrs. Neal is the gentle presence behind the familiar green sign on South Main Street that points the way to Neal's Mother Goose Nursery School, a private kindergarten that has offered hundreds of Andover children their first taste of school life.

She has run the school for 30 years on South Main Street; before that, she ran a kindergarten for 14 years in North Andover.

On Friday, the teacher will watch her last group of little ones graduate from the school, collecting diplomas and wearing mortarboards fashioned out of blue construction paper on their heads. And even though she is looking forward to some well-deserved rest and recreation, she knows the day will be a sad one for her. "There'll be tears, I'm sure."

The nursery school lies at the end of a long driveway, hidden from the street, in a quiet, leafy setting. It is a one-room, one-story wooden building located next to Mrs. Neal's house, where she first opened the school in 1954. Windows and chalkboards line the blue walls; small stuffed animals hang from the ceiling; books, games and toys fill a wall of shelves.

Mrs. Neal is gray-haired and grandmotherly, soft-spoken and serene. Teaching is, she says, "the only thing I ever wanted to do."

As a little girl, she spent her after-school hours making up papers to correct, and she remembers how she loved to write on her "little blackboard." She recruited cousins, brothers and sisters to populate her make-believe classroom. "I was always playing school, it seems."

After her graduation from Dover (N.H.) High School and Teachers Training College in Portsmouth, N.H., she became a first-grade teacher for one year. Then she married the late Erwin Neal and had two sons, Richard of Andover (a member and former chairman of the Andover School Committee), and John, of Salem, N.H.

Mrs. Neal was looking for a way to supplement the family income without leaving her small son Richard when she started her kindergarten in North Andover.

"I just sort of did it on my own," she recalls. "I wasn't prepared for it, really. I was trained to teach the elementary grades." Her first students were Richard and three other little boys.

She taught kindergarten in the morning and, at the North Andover school superintendent's suggestion, a first-grade class in the afternoon, for pupils who had just missed the birthday cut-off date for entering first grade in the public schools. (At the end of their year with Mrs. Neal they took a readiness test, and those who passed were admitted to the second grade in public school the following September.)

When the Neals moved to Andover, the teacher offered a nursery school session in the morning and a kindergarten session in the afternoon. Her enrollment soon grew to a "good group" of 12 to 15 (she didn't have room for many more than that in her classroom, an upstairs room in her house). Mrs. Neal had little competition, she remembers: just small programs in a few church-

Townsmen Photos By Carl Russo

With the advent of public school kindergarten, her program evolved into a nursery school extended day care format. Today the school is open from 7 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, with an enrollment of 18 students who stay all day long. In past years, she has had up to 36 students in two sessions, with children coming from North Reading, Lawrence and Methuen, as well as Andover and North Andover.

Mrs. Neal describes her school program as "a social program, primarily." Her three- and four-year-old pupils (most come to the school for two years) spend their days singing songs, playing games, listening to stories.

They learn to recognize the letters of the alphabet and the colors of the rainbow, and they learn to name the days of the week. They enjoy "a lot of music," and learn to play rhythm instruments. They play outside whenever the weather cooperates, bring their own lunches, and take a nap break during the day.

They seem to be very happy," Mrs. Neal says, with a trace of quiet pride. "They come in beaming every morning, and they seem reluctant to leave sometimes at night."

More than a few parents have told her how sorry they are that her school is closing, she adds. "They feel secure knowing that their children are happy here. It's sort of a homey atmosphere for them."

The teacher has not been disappointed in her vocation. "I enjoy all of it, really," she says. "I like planning their hand work. I am reading to them, singing with them, I love having them come up and talk to me in the morning — they all have things to tell me when they arrive."

The scholars have changed in the past 44 years, Mrs. Neal believes. "They're much more aggressive, active, and much smarter than that's due to television, I think. They know so much more at this age now. They go more places, too — they really travel and get to see and do so many things that children didn't used to do."

And they're certainly not shy like they used to be," she adds. "We used to have so many weepers. We don't run into that any more — very, very seldom."

At one time, Mrs. Neal provided transportation for her pupils, and she remembers with chagrin picking up one crying little boy whose mother "had sort of stuffed him into the car. He was screeching and screaming as we drove down the street. I can't imagine what people thought. I was married to death."

But even with the more self-assured children of the '80s, Mrs. Neal and her long-time assistant, Marion Demers, sometimes still face the challenge of "trying to get some incooperative child to enter into things," the teacher notes.

Mrs. Neal cherishes her young charges for their warmth, their enthusiasm, their open acceptance of anything and everything. "Anything pleases them. They don't question anything you say," she explains. "I'm almost a mother to them."

She looks back on her career with satisfaction, Mrs. Neal says. Many of her students, now grown, have returned to tell her they still remember "what fun they've had here." And one former student, a nurse, recently told Mrs. Neal that she's engaged to be married — to another Mother Goose alumna, who had attended the school with her years earlier.

Because it offers day care service, Mrs. Neal's school has remained open year-round, during school vacations and on most holidays — and, at age 70, "I'm kind of tired," Mrs. Neal says. She has also undergone a number of hip operations in recent years, "and I just can't keep up with these little kids the way I'd like to."

So, with her retirement, she plans to enjoy the luxury of free time she has never known: to spend more time with her five grandchildren, to read, to sew, to go out to lunch with friends. "I've never been able to do that."

Mrs. Neal will also leave Andover and move into a condominium in Bradford. Her house is "much too big" for her now, she explains, but she leaves Andover with regret. "I just love where I am." With family and friends here, she intends to return often.

Still, she looks ahead to her retirement with mixed feelings. "I'm looking forward to having time to myself, but I'm also sorry," she explains.

It's been a way of life for me for so many years. I've spent more time in my schoolroom than I have in my house," Florence Neal says softly. "I know I'm going to miss it — especially when September rolls around."

Summer School

Lorna McIntyre, Ballardvale Preschool director, announced the staffing and programming for the summer school and camp held in the Ballardvale United Church, beginning June 25 and ending Aug. 24.

The day will extend from 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. There will be two camp sessions each: 8:45 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. Children in Extended Care will have early morning and late afternoon care in a small group.

The staff will be headed by Diane Silva and June Meckel, who are presently head teachers in the four and five year old program at the school. Assisting them will be Pat Dixon, a teacher who has been on staff for many years. Jenny Ward and Gina Bonni, both capable and experienced high school aides, will provide the additional help needed to provide individual attention needed by the children.

Special topics will be emphasized each week, including Vegetables in our Garden, Nutrition, Growth and Development, Seashore Fun, Sand and Water Play, Sea, Late and Camping. Each day choices will include painting, cooking, water play, language activities, writing, pool, fun parties and the use of the indoor and outdoor equipment as well as planned for pre-schoolers.

The staff, programs and schedules are flexible and will meet the children's individual needs so that they may grow socially, emotionally, physically and academically at their own pace.

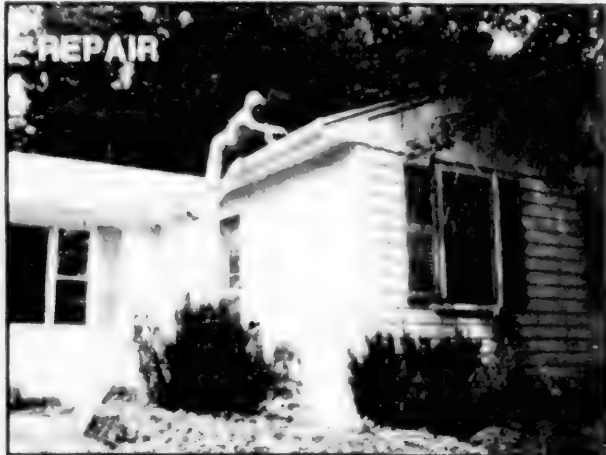

There is a few openings in the program. For information or registration, contact the school.

Some Successful Business People At Children's Economy Mall

By Susan Rand

Jennifer Howard can consider herself a success in the business world. She is a payroll supervisor, partner in a successful woodcraft shop and still has free time for some leisurely Friday afternoon shopping. I started to wonder how she did it all and still got her fifth grade math, reading and social studies homework finished.

So I followed Jennifer and her classmates around for a few hours at the Children's Economy Mall, upstairs in the Bancroft School. There I found a miniature version of the real world complete with the well-known stock firm, E.F. Mutton; the Fifth National Bank, the MLA Insurance Company and, of course, the Michael Jackson Mania gift shop.

The Mall is a Friday afternoon project that ties into a year's worth of learning about economics and the public and private sector jobs involved in any city or town. It is all part of the Children's Economy, a copyrighted project that Bancroft teacher Robert C. Littlefield created a decade ago. He has been teaching Bancroft students about the economy for the past three years. Before coming to Bancroft the Lynnfield resident taught at the Doherty school.

Littlefield's grammar school economy course has received high praise from both school administrators and teachers. Acting Assistant Superintendent Lois Haslam, who was the school principal before last December, told me that Littlefield's program makes learning much easier to understand than any workbook could.

"It brings reality to the skills that the students have learned," she said. "It is the most creative and imaginative program that I have ever seen."

The Children's Economy lessons begin in the late winter when the fifth graders learn about public sector jobs. They find out the qualifications needed to become an accountant, lawyer, public worker or notary public and they take qualifying exams for the jobs that interest them. And as the students complete their daily tasks they are awarded Children's Economy money which looks so much like real cash that Littlefield is always trying to buy his groceries with it. The project then becomes more than a simple math project. It is "behavior modification" according to Littlefield. A complete instruction manual he has written on the economy shows that math, writing, arts and communications and organizational skills are used in the various economy projects.

The economy concept may not make sense to all the fifth graders until May when for an hour each Friday afternoon the students drag their desks into the hall where a wooden sign hangs to let visitors know they are in the Children's Economy Mall. The youngsters have the choice of spending the afternoon recess outside or setting up their store fronts for business. Most of them choose to get a head start on their competition.

As I walked through the mall the young entrepreneurs noticed I was carrying a camera and lobbied for some free publicity for their businesses. Like any astute business person would.

I met bank presidents Manish Shah and Paul Latchford who told me the Fifth National had some $35,000 in assets. Shah added that they had bankbooks and checks available to their customers as well as plenty of change for when the big spenders wanted small bills.

"You have to have change," explained Shah. "If you don't you are in big trouble."

Down the hall from the bank insurance agents Michelle Barry, Lisa Allen and Alana Hennessey, partners at the MLA Insurance Company were trying to decide how to settle a claim filed with their company. One of the 17 customers they have had lost $644. He filed a claim but Michelle couldn't decide whether he had simply misplaced the money at home or had actually lost it.

"We don't know what we are going to do," she pondered aloud. "I'm still deciding whether he carelessly misplaced the money or whether he deserves to get his money back." She said she would talk about her eventual decision with the bank treasurer.

Crowds were starting to gather near the insurance company at KJ Woodcrafts, owned by Jennifer Howard and Krista Lavore, where the pair sell wood items made by Krista's father. A large wooden elephant was to be raffled off and Littlefield had been asked to pull the winner's name. Much to the dismay of the students the winner was teacher Robert Kessler from the fourth grade classroom down the hall.

As he walked through the mall buying small trinkets and chatting with the business owners Littlefield explained that the students learn first-hand the problems of being a small business owner.

"I think it is a lot more complicated than it first looks," he explained. "The ones that stick with their businesses really make out."

His point was well illustrated at the Michael Jackson Mania shop where fifth graders were clamoring for the front of the line to purchase Samantha Genier's handmade bookmarks and notecards that professed love for Michael Jackson with large hearts decorating the borders of each item.

Littlefield could see that after a while I began to suffer from "sensory overload" as the mall got noisier and business increased. He suggested I might like to stop in at Erin Galvin's stress lab. The small office, located off the mall, is where Erin and her meditators Brenda Petzold and Maura Lynch sooth the tense shopper by teaching them to relax, for a fee, of course.

Brenda explained that Erin hires her meditators after giving them a test where they read must meditation instructions to her.

"She picks you if she thinks you will do a good job," explained the new meditator. Fifth grader Kelly Walsh, who had recently been hired to be the company's bookkeeper, consulted the appointment log to see if I could be worked into the schedule. She said that they had been "booked solid" that morning.

Besides her work at the wood show Jennifer Howard does out money to her classmates when they do well on their reading skills tests as the economy's payroll supervisor. The maximum award is $100, she explained. And some of the younger Bancroft students benefit from the economy tax dollars too.

Amy Brocklesby and Beth Willett run the Children's Economy Touring Agency and Information Booth where they give tours to second graders who are rewarded for their good work with a Friday afternoon foray to the Economy Mall.

Shawn Barry, a visitor at the fifth grade version of Main Street, was a bit confused as he counted out his money, hoping to find he had ten dollars. Instead he only had five dollars and couldn't make the purchase he had in mind. The young student found Littlefield and asked for some help. To his delight the teacher took a wad of bills out of his pocket and peeled off a five dollar bill which he gave to Shawn.

Another young visitor to the mall watched me talking to Shawn about his sudden financial good luck and wandered over, perhaps hoping to get his picture in THE TOWNSMAN.

He showed a few dollars to me and asked "how much does it cost to be interviewed?"

Suppressing a laugh I told the young blond boy that interviews were free. The fifth graders may have learned about the "free press" but that knowledge had escaped this second grade guest. Just as he began telling me about his shopping experience in the mall the bell rang and young Matthew was lost before I could get his last name as a throng of fifth graders hurried to get their desks and tables back into the classroom at the close of another business day for the Children's Economy Mall.

Makes your house into your dream house

Inside your house, waiting to be uncovered, is the house of your dreams.

Uncover that special house by painting, repairing the roof, installing wall-to-wall carpets or putting an in-ground pool in your yard.

You can get from $5,000 to $15,000 for your house with a home improvement loan from Lawrence Savings Bank. So you can make big changes, like adding a room. Or you can make those smaller changes you've been wanting, like insulating or landscaping.

Right now, Lawrence Savings Bank is offering a special low home improvement loan rate. It's easy to qualify for this loan — you're eligible even if your mortgage is not from Lawrence Savings Bank. Our staff will help you fill out the application — it takes only about five minutes. The processing time is quick, too. But this low rate is offered for a limited time only.

Stop by Lawrence Savings Bank today. Or phone us at 687-1131. At this special low rate, you can discover a lot of beauty in your home.

Summer Program Registering

The Department of Community Services' Summer Program booklet was mailed to Andover homes last week. New residents who have not received one may pick up a booklet at the DCS office on Bartlet Street. The booklet contains descriptions of a wide variety of programs that the department will offer. Unless specified otherwise all classes will begin Monday, July 2.

Registration for all classes, including the Tiny Tot (ages 3 and 4), Preschool (ages 4½-6), All Day (K-6) and the Special Needs playgrounds will be held Thursday, June 14, from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. at the West Junior High auditorium and will continue each following day at the Town Offices during office hours (8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.) until classes begin. Those registering for the regular playground program only—Bancroft, Ballardvale, Doherty, Sanborn, South and West Elementary—may do so at the above locations beginning June 28, opening day of playgrounds.

The department will sponsor special interest programs, evening concerts and movies (held behind the Doherty Junior High), two Sunday concerts at Pumps Pond, Pinocchio-puppet show at Recreation Park, Whale Watching Cruise and a theatre trip to see "42nd Street." The summer playground program for children in grades 1-6 will include regularly scheduled activities at the six neighborhood playgrounds as well as special events and field trips. A rollerskating party, Benson's Wild Animal Farm, Cranes Beach sand castle building contest and Whalom Park are some of the trips planned.

The Tiny Tot and Preschool programs will be offered in four two-week sessions at Recreation Park. The All Day Playground program for kindergartners through grade 6 completed will be at the Greater Lawrence Technical School, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Some of the new programs will be a children's Jazz Ensemble (grades 4-6), Computer Ecology (grades 4-6), Spanish Conversation (grades 3-6), Sewing Machine Stitchery (grades 5-6), Rock Ensemble (grades 7-12) and an adult advanced photography class.

Last year's returning popular programs include the Hampton Beach shuttle, gymnastics program, Cheerleading Clinic, ballroom dancing, Total Body Care for Teens and the Kaleidoscope enrichment program.

Detailed information on all summer Community Services programs including a comprehensive listing of all Division of Elder Affairs programs and an invitation for residents to join a community wide production of "Grease."

Awards Presented At Pike

On Monday, June 11, 23 ninth graders and 14 eighth graders were graduated from The Pike School in Andover. The traditional commencement ceremonies were held on the Andover Auditorium on the school campus. Pike Headmaster David A. Frothingham awarded diplomas. Alice Jablonski, Head of the Upper School, presented each graduate to chairman Mrs. Marshall L. Field, who extended the greetings of the board of trustees. Thirty-one additional eighth graders have chosen to remain at Pike for the ninth grade in 1984-85.

Matthew A. Carrey, 80 of Lawrence dedicated the commencement address. It is the custom at Pike for a member of the class of 1984 graduated two years earlier to speak to the graduates. Matthew graduated from Phillips Academy this year and was awarded the Freeman Prize and a varsity letter in soccer. He will attend Middlebury College in September.

Awards presented to outstanding graduates included: Founder's Award for outstanding record in mathematics and Headmaster's Award for leadership in non-academic affairs and high standards of scholarship Hilary Field of Andover, Margaret Little Award for spirit in leading integrity, generosity and thoughtfulness, Fabrice Paul of Andover, Varcoe Prize for academic improvement, Cassie Platt of Andover, Alumni Prize for academic achievement and friendliness, Robert DiAdamo of Andover, French Prize, Hilary Field, English Prize, Lisa Dilorio of Andover, Studio Art Prize, Tim Russell and Chris Frothingham both of Andover, Music and Theatre Award, Chris Frothingham and Craig Moseley of Salem, N.H., Girls and Boys Athletic Trophies for outstanding sportsmanship, Paula McCarthy of Exeter and Aaron Booder of Andover, and the Koser-Katzen Award for athletic ability and enthusiasm, Sarah Leary and Mark Elefante, both of Andover.

Area 1984 graduates are listed alphabetically with the schools they will attend next year.

Walk

A new corner of Gloucester will be explored during the Greenbelt Walk on Sunday, June 17, at the five-acre Nelson Reservation.

The Nelson Reservation offers great granite outcrops, pine trees, native orchids and the famous Magnolia Trees which should be in bloom. The Sweet Bay Magnolia makes this area a botanical surprise because the tree is otherwise found growing naturally no further north than New Jersey.

Villanova

Catherine Scanlon

Patrick Canavan

Suzanne Petrella

Mary Ellen Wesson

Six Andover students graduated from Villanova University, Villanova, Pennsylvania, on Saturday, May 12.

Suzanne M. Petrella received a bachelor of science in business administration and marketing. She was president of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority, a member of the Blue Key Society and a resident assistant. Petrella, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Petrella, has accepted a position with the Boston division of Proctor and Gamble.

Patrick H. Canavan graduated with a bachelor of arts in English and religious studies. Canavan, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Canavan, was a resident assistant and active in the campus ministry. He was a dean's list student and plans to enter the University of Delaware in the fall.

Mary Ellen Wesson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wesson, received a bachelor of science in business administration. Wesson was a dean's list student and belonged to the Kappa Delta Epsilon, the National Education Leadership Society and two others. Wesson is teaching at St. West Elementary School. She will continue her education in elementary education. Joseph L. Torrisi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Torrisi, received his bachelor of science in business administration from Villanova.

And Bruce Targiss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Targiss, was awarded a bachelor of science in economics.

Catherine M. Scanlon received a bachelor of science in business administration at last month's graduation. Scanlon, a North Andover resident, was a resident assistant and a member of Pi Sigma Epsilon, the nursing society. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scanlon, Scanlon will work in a Malden youth program.

Essex Institute

Five Andover students were among the 305 graduates in the college and post-secondary schools at Essex Agricultural and Technical Institute. Director Raymond F. Potter extended greetings of the trustees and staff to hundreds of parents and friends attending the ceremonies on Smith Hall Green Wednesday evening.

Sharon Pollard, Secretary of Energy Resources, challenged the graduates to fully develop their potential and become involved citizens. She said, "Involvement is the key word to becoming full fledged active citizens. There is a cause, an organization or goal that can reflect the interest and capability of every person who is willing to give of their time and energy to make a contribution and to receive the benefits of such."

Andover students receiving the associate degree in applied science two-year program were: Joseph Manning, Horticulture; Brian Fader, John F. Kratz, Georgory Shonis, Culinary Arts; and Patricia McMurrough, Animal Technician.

Receiving certificates in the one-year schools were Barry McGee and Carolyn Reynold, Operating Room Technician.

Julia C. Logan

Julia Clare Logan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Logan, 25 Marilyn Road, Andover, received a classical diploma from Stephen G. Kurtz, the school's principal, at the 203rd Commencement Exercises at Phillips Exeter Academy on Sunday, June 3. She was one of the 295 members of the Class of 1984.

During the ceremony it was announced that Logan was awarded high honors for academic achievement and was elected to membership in the Cum Laude Society. She was the recipient of the Williams Cup as the student who, by personal qualities and work, has brought distinction to Phillips Exeter.

Logan was one of eight seniors awarded a Saltonstall-Kerr-Landers Music Prize at the school's Annual Prize Day for her contribution to the musical life of the academy. She was also a 1984 recipient.

Drew

Susan Depper, of Andover, received a bachelor of arts degree at the 116th annual commencement at Drew University, Madison, New Jersey.

John Brademas, a former United States congressman and president of New York University, delivered the keynote address.

Rice

Two local residents received degrees at the 71st commencement at Rice University, Houston.

David Robyn Sedgwick, son of Dr. and Mrs. Carlton B. Seely, received a bachelor of architecture degree. And Nancy Gattiny Rullo, formerly of North Andover, received a master of business and public management degree.

Five features that make REAL Credit the best way for homeowners to borrow.

1. We give you substantial credit for owning a home. REAL Credit (Real Estate Asset Line of Credit) is a line of credit that enables qualified homeowners to obtain up to $100,000. And while many other banks only let you borrow up to 75% of the appraised equity value of your home, we allow up to 80%.
2. You can use the money for whatever you want. Whether you need money for home improvements, college tuition, a new car, a vacation—virtually anything—you can use REAL Credit money from BayBanks. In fact, you can use it for several different purposes at the same time, if you'd like.
3. You can use it whenever you want. With REAL Credit, you can start using the money any time you want. And your REAL Credit line is available for your use for ten years. Moreover, at the BayBanks, we won't require you to borrow before you're ready. And you pay interest only on the funds you use, regardless of the amount of your approved credit line.
4. You pay lower interest rates. REAL Credit features one of the best rates available—just 1% over BayBanks Prime Rate, adjusted monthly. For example, if our Prime Rate is 12½%, the corresponding REAL Credit Annual Percentage Rate would be just 14%. In most cases, your rate will be lower than rates on ordinary loans.
5. Something better than the rest. The best feature of REAL Credit is the overall package; it's a winning combination you won't find elsewhere. In addition, we offer a monthly statement, special checks for easy access, plus very attractive repayment terms. It all adds up to the very best.

Women's Group Ends Year

One of the oldest continuing women's organizations in New England and in the nation, the Ladies Benevolent Society of Phillips Academy, completed its 154th year at their luncheon meeting on May 9. Nancy Price was elected president and Elaine Bailey vice president and program director of the women's group known as "Benevie." Members are the women of Phillips Academy.

Under president Mary Minard, this year has been one of the Ladies Benevolent Society's most active and benevolent. "Handsprings," the craft show of more than 100 New England artisans that was held in April, raised more than $1000 apiece for two Greater Lawrence causes, Hospice and Bread and Roses, the Lawrence soup kitchen, and raised funds for the Andover Community Child Care Center scholarships.

The organization gave funds to other organizations in the Greater Lawrence area during the year.

St. Anne's Home, Elder Services of Merrimack Valley and the Women's Resource Center (for battered women). Funds also were donated to Rosie's Place, the Boston shelter for homeless women. The group continued its old tradition of filling Christmas gift bags for patients at the Tewksbury State Hospital, a practice begun nearly 50 years ago, according to Helen Barss, one of Benevie's elder stateswomen.

Next year "Handsprings" will be sponsored on April 14 and a committee headed by Kate Bunnell and Sybil Wise has begun work on Volume II of Benevie's highly successful "Andover Cookbook" whose recipes were donated by academy faculty staff, parents and alumni.

Benevie seminars this year have focused on "Parenting," "Parenting our Aging Parents," and "Gender Roles."

Cook Book

Faith Lutheran Church announces the publication of its cookbook, "Divine Dining." The 200-page book contains more than 400 favorite recipes from members and friends.

Proceeds from the sale of the book will be donated to Neighbors-in-Need.

The cookbook may be purchased at the Merchants' Association Sidewalk Bazaar, June 22-23, or by contacting Mrs. Ralph Pass or Mrs. Robert Brammer.

Greene-Crampton

Mrs. Richard Greene

Dr. Lindsay Crampton, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H.J. Crampton of West Boxford was married to Dr. Richard Greene of Dalton on June 3. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Nathan H. Greene of Valley Stream, N.Y.

Rabbi Alan Berg performed the ceremony at Fox Hollow in Dalton.

Mrs. Lucy Black Samara was the matron of honor and Dr. Henry Greene, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man.

The bride recently received her M.D. degree from Dalhousie University in Halifax, Nova Scotia, Canada. She received a B.S. from the University of New Brunswick in 1975 and a master's degree from the University of Massachusetts in 1979.

The bridegroom graduated from the University of Rhode Island in 1975 and from Albany Medical College in 1979. He served a residency at Berkshire Medical Center and is board certified in internal medicine. He has been a staff physician at Fairview Hospital in Great Barrington since 1982.

The couple will reside in Providence, R.I. where they have appointments at the Brown-University-Roger Williams General Hospital.

Art Guild Plans Sale

The Andover Artists Guild and the Merrimack Valley Arts League are sponsoring a show and sale July 3 and 4 in the North Parish Church at the Old Center of North Andover. Framed or matted and wrapped paintings and photographs and sculpture will be accepted. A fee per framed work (maximum of three) and for ten matted works will be charged. The sponsors will handle all sales and collect a commission.

Ribbons will be awarded.

Entrances should be delivered to the church's upper stage Monday, July 2, from 9 a.m. to noon and p.m. to 6 p.m. or Tuesday, July 3, from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m.

The show is scheduled from noon to 6 p.m. on Tuesday and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Wednesday, July 4. Pickup 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Wednesday without fail. Any art work left will be stored on the stage of the church hall.

North Andover's Fourth of July celebration is scheduled to run from 11 a.m. on Tuesday through Wednesday evening. It usually attracts upwards of 10,000 people.

For further information, call Betty Shale.

La Leche To Meet

La Leche League is presented by the Andover and Lawrence chapters. Both chapters will have their second meeting on Tuesday, June 19, at 7 p.m. at the Andover chapter.

The purpose of the league is to provide information and support to mothers who are breastfeeding their babies. The league is a non-profit organization and is open to all mothers who are breastfeeding their babies.

For more information, call the Andover chapter at 866-1331 or the Lawrence chapter at 866-1331.

Day Camp Prepares To Open

Camp Y-Wood, the Greater Lawrence YWCA Day Camp on Captain's Pond in Salem, N.H., will open on June 25 for its 26th season of serving girls from all the Greater Lawrence communities. The campers are aged six through 13. A Counselor-In-Training Program will serve girls in the eighth and ninth grades who wish to improve their camping skills, earn water safety ratings and practice teaching younger campers in all phases of the camping program. Ten girls are accepted for this program which runs for two summers. There are a few openings left and more information about the six-to-eight-week program are available by calling the Lawrence YWCA.

For the first time this year a Little Brother's unit will be in operation for boys five and six years old. The camp already has a very busy Little Girl's unit, headed by Beth Hempstead, a certified teacher.

Andover residents working at the camp are Evelyn Retelle, director, Brenda Craig, music and sports counselor, and Merri Haselton, CIT.

Bus stops have been planned for each two-week period to cover all parts of Andover. Camp folders are available by calling the YWCA desk.

For Those Of Us Who Are Older

By Janet D. Lake

Today is registration day for classes to be held this summer at the senior center. Only those classes having no fees may be registered by phone. Fees must also be paid by check. But, today is the day.

The June Newsletter will be mailed to all Andover residents 60 or over. You should note that the pot luck luncheon date is given incorrectly. The correct date is June 27 at noon. If you have not done so already, call the center to tell them what you plan to bring—salad, casserole or dessert—or, if you do not care to prepare something, that you plan to attend and pay $3. Don't wait until the last minute. Do it now.

Remember, you were told last week that you would have another opportunity to see "42nd Street?" Well, it is all set. The center has tickets for the July 25 Wednesday matinee. Orchestra seats and deluxe motor coach—all for $36. But sign up now.

You can spend the evening of July 4 at Cranes Beach if you'd like. Buses will leave the senior center at 4:30 p.m. and return by 11 p.m. The cost of $11 includes a concert, picnic lunch and fireworks. While you're signing up for everything else, add this happy event.

There are still some seats left on the bus going to the Danversport Yacht Club July 12. There will be a delicious meal and great entertainment in a beautiful setting—and all for $20.

Every year Salisbury Beach has a senior citizens day and this year it will be August 16. If you would like to go, you can sign up for the bus at the center. It will cost you $1, plus whatever you choose to spend at the beach.

The first Tuesday of each month Diane Haynes, Sen. Pat McGovern's aide, is at the senior center from 2:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. If you have anything you'd like to talk about or any way the senator can be of help to you, this is your opportunity to make contact.

July 5 is the date of the next Birthday Party at the center. Your birthday does not have to be in July to come to the

Worship Location Changed

Worship at the Ballard Vale United Church (United Methodist Church, United Church of Christ) will be in the cooler Shaw Fellowship Hall of the church beginning this Sunday at 9:30 a.m. The Rev. Gary S. Cornell, pastor, will have "The Great Commission" as his preaching theme based on the words of Jesus in Matthew 28. There will be a time of fellowship and light refreshments after the service.

party, but those who are July people will be the special honored guests. Come and wish them well.

Don't forget, if you signed up for the cheese distribution, June 19 is the day you come to the center to pick it up.

Lowell Temple Installs

An installation of officers was held recently at Temple Emanuel of Merrimack Valley, 101 West Forest St., Lowell. The slate for the upcoming year includes: Michael Logvin, president; Barbara Prolman, first vice president; David Breakstone, second vice president; Edward Weil, treasurer; Emanuel Wachslar, financial secretary; David Kahan, corresponding secretary, and Margaret Frisch, recording secretary.

Guest musicians were Nancy Rovin at the piano and Michael Finegold, flutist, playing works by Antonio Vivaldi, Benjamin Goddard and Arthur Foote.

On Friday, June 15, the subject will be "How to Work for Peace." Stuart Kaufman will offer a Torah cantillation and an open discussion will follow the service.

The season will conclude on Friday, June 22, with a "Celebration of Summer" featuring spinning of the Sun Wheel and experiencing prayer together with movement led by dancer Lynn Morris.

Summer services July 13, 27 and August 17 will be led by members of the congregation.

Rabbi Everett Gendler, spiritual leader of Temple Emanuel of Merrimack Valley, recently delivered the graduation address at the Reconstructionist Rabbinical College in Philadelphia. He will speak at a conference on Judaism in Rural New England at Goddard College in Plainfield, VT.

Nuclear Waste Discussion Scheduled For Library

As a result of the Federal Waste Policy Act of 1980, Massachusetts and other New England states are required to build a local or regional nuclear waste dump for all short-lived and long-lived (up to 500 years) minimally toxic and extremely toxic nuclear wastes. Academic, medical and industrial wastes will have to be carefully packaged, transported, disposed of and managed to protect communities throughout the state. A special legislative commission has been researching and discussing all the technical and procedural problems associated with such a project in an attempt to anticipate and resolve any environmental hazards.

Amy Goldsmith and Jon Harris will speak at Andover Memorial Hall Library, Elm Square, Route 28, on Thursday, June 21, at 7:30 p.m. about the discussions that have occurred up to now and the decisions that will have to be made in the near future. Goldsmith is executive director for the Massachusetts Nuclear Referendum Committee which actively sought the voter approval for the law that gives voters the right to decide on the wisdom of any decision regarding a nuclear disposal site before the state is allowed to build it.

Harris, an economist who teaches at Merrimack College, has long been in favor of a complete investigation and public discussion of nuclear waste issues as a prerequisite for any final choices.

Michele McKeown

Serving As Summer Intern

Michele McKeown, daughter of Edmond and Barbara McKeown, 29 Farrwood Drive, Andover, has achieved the distinction of being named to the Dean's List at Emory University in Atlanta, Ga. A political science major, she has just completed her second year.

McKeown is working this summer in Washington, D.C., as a Congressional Intern in the office of Congressman Nicholas Mavroules, Sixth District of Massachusetts.

She is a 1982 graduate of Andover High School.

HOLISTIC HEALTH— A NEW DIMENSION

Holistic health is a whole-person approach, recognizing the unity between structural, chemical and emotional health. Balance in all of these areas is essential for the promotion of total health, disease prevention and healing. In our attempt to achieve this goal, we employ a staff of professionals including doctors of medicine, doctors of chiropractic, psychologist, applied kinesiologist, therapist and para-professional personnel offering traditional and alternative care in a modern clinical setting.

CHILDREN AND WILLS

An important yet commonly overlooked responsibility of parenthood is the protection of children upon a parent's death. Many parents of young children put off preparing wills because they do not understand the importance or simplicity of the process. # Zoning Board Makes Preliminary Judgments Following Hearings

The Zoning Board of Appeals reached tentative decisions on the ten hearings before them at last Thursday's marathon meeting. Starting an hour early at 6:30 p.m., because of the long agenda, the meeting ran until 11 p.m., in the Memorial Hall Library meeting room.

And next month's agenda looks even longer with an all-time record of 15 hearings that will be heard on two nights. The meetings are tentatively set for Thursday, July 5, and Friday, July 6.

The board's decisions were made in a deliberation meeting on Saturday morning following visits to the sites of each requested variance or special permit. The votes are made final after a decision is written by a member of the board. The final votes and written reports will be announced at the next meeting, in July.

The board tentatively approved Thomas and Diane De Witt's request for a variance to allow them to build an enclosed porch at their 5 Ivanhoe Lane home, said Wesley Whitney, Appeals Board chairman. They also approved a request for a special permit from New England Telegraph and Telephone to construct a small building to house telephone equipment on land owned by Janet and Allen Douglas, at the corner of River and Boutwell Roads.

Stephen Goff, of Newton, New Hampshire, won a tentative approval on his request to allow him to use a septic system instead of town sewer for the restaurant he is developing on the Andover-Wilmington line, off Ballardvale Street. And Stephen and Hilary Loring, 17 Porter Road, won a tentative approval to add a garage, family room, bathroom and utility room to their home. The Loring's needed an amendment to a 1976 decision by the board that specified that they could not add on to their home without board permission.

Whitney also said the board tentatively approved Donald and Barbara Richmond's request to a special permit to allow them to convert two apartments at 121 Main St., into four apartments.

Decisions were not made on three additional hearings after the Saturday site visits, Whitney said.

The board held over, until another deliberation meeting, which Whitney said has not yet been scheduled, a decision on Helen Snell's request to allow construction on a home on land at the Glenwood Road extension which does not have frontage on a public way.

Andover attorney Peter Caruso argued that Snell, who lives in Lawrence, cannot develop her land without a variance. But neighbors from Fern and Glenwood Roads argued that the land has a water problem and the request should not be approved.

A decision was also not made on Donald and Barbara Richmond's request to build two apartment buildings, with one dozen apartments each, at 68-84 Essex St. The Richmonds need a special permit and variance to build the two and one half story townhouses. Industrial land owners from the area argued on Tuesday night that the apartments would create more traffic on an already busy street and construction of residential buildings in an industrial area would impair the industry there.

A decision was not made on Charles and Barbara Hansons request to allow them to build on land at 22 Highland Avenue, which does not have the proper amount of frontage on a public street or total land area required in residential districts. Neighbors argued that the land, which they said was wedged between Marie Drive and Highland Avenue, had water problems.

Whitney said the board tentatively voted to deny a petition by Picwel Builders Inc., on Tewksbury, to

Seifert Examines 15 Years Of Responding To Town's Priorities

By Susan Rand

As Andover's school superintendent for 15 years Kenneth R. Seifert has seen a number of priorities that Andover's residents, and dozens of school committee members as their representatives, have had for Andover's schools.

Seifert recently reflected on his tenure in Andover in an interview with THE TOWNSMAN.

When the telephone rings in Seifert's office, as it often does, the superintendent sometimes speaks to his callers while looking out at the youngsters at the Doherty Junior High School playing fields that his large office faces. A desire to have an effect on more than 25 children at a time led the one-time teacher, basketball coach and later principal into public school administration.

Seifert came to Andover in 1969 from Clark County, Nevada, where he was an assistant to the superintendent of schools.

Clark County was a large school district with 69,000 students and an additional 5,000 moving there each year, Seifert said. There the constant school building Seifert was involved in was "equivalent to putting up an entire (Andover) school system each year." Before leaving his native upstate New York for Nevada, the superintendent received his master's degree from the State University of New York at Buffalo and completed his doctorate at Cornell University.

Key to his success as head of the town's schools, Seifert explained, is a clear articulation of the intended direction of school policy from the school committee. When the five-member group tells him what they want, he delivers, said the 49 year-old Seifert. But when strong individual concerns take precedent over group decisions, priorities become muddled.

"Whenever the school committee has articulated a position, it has been achieved quite satisfactorily," said Seifert, adding that disagreement among committee members causes them not to "focus upon what they generally agree upon and move the system forward, but (to) focus on their differences of opinion. This has an impact on the system."

An example of Seifert's follow-through is the case of the achievement test scores. In the mid-1970's Andover's students were scoring around the mid-50th percentile, out of a possible 100 percent, on national achievement tests. The school committee told Seifert the test scores should be up around the mid-70's. And two years later students were scoring in the 70's, said Seifert. The scores have continued to rise and are now at the 95th percentile, he said.

With three-year-old Proposition 2½ dictating town spending increases Andover's school officials have felt the tightening, Seifert said. In fact at a staff meeting on the day the tax-cutting measure was voted into law Seifert remembers he told those present that three to five years after people had settled into Prop. 2½ and the economy started "to roll" again they would start complaining that education in Andover had suffered.

"I told them we would hear people saying 'What have you done to public school education?' said the superintendent.

And he says, it is beginning to happen. In 1971 Seifert was hired as the superintendent in Massachusetts who had done the best job implementing the state's Chapter 766 law, which mandates that children must be educated in public schools no matter what their handicap. Almost ten years later Andover residents are starting to complain about the town's special education services, said Seifert.

The constant budget cutting has been his hardest job to date, said Seifert. And the cutbacks are hard to justify when Americans spend an increasing amount of money on their own entertainment, said Seifert.

"We have enough money to pay a guy who throws a baseball for a living $4 million a year," said Seifert. "But we don't have enough money for the futures of our children."

In recent years over 140 positions have been cut from the schools' rosters. And the bitter task of letting dedicated employees know they have been let go has been one of Seifert's most difficult jobs.

"I have had to tell people who have contributed significantly to education that they are no longer needed," said Seifert. "Along with those painful pink slips I have a lot of memories of each person."

And those layoff notices have contributed to what Seifert said may be a confused impression of him on the part of the town's school teachers. Seifert said he would hope his colleagues would say he has high professional standards and a sense of fairness, which he admits is tempered with a firm manner.

"I'm not afraid to make tough decisions," said the superintendent. "Those that know

399 Receive Andover High Diplomas

By Susan Rand

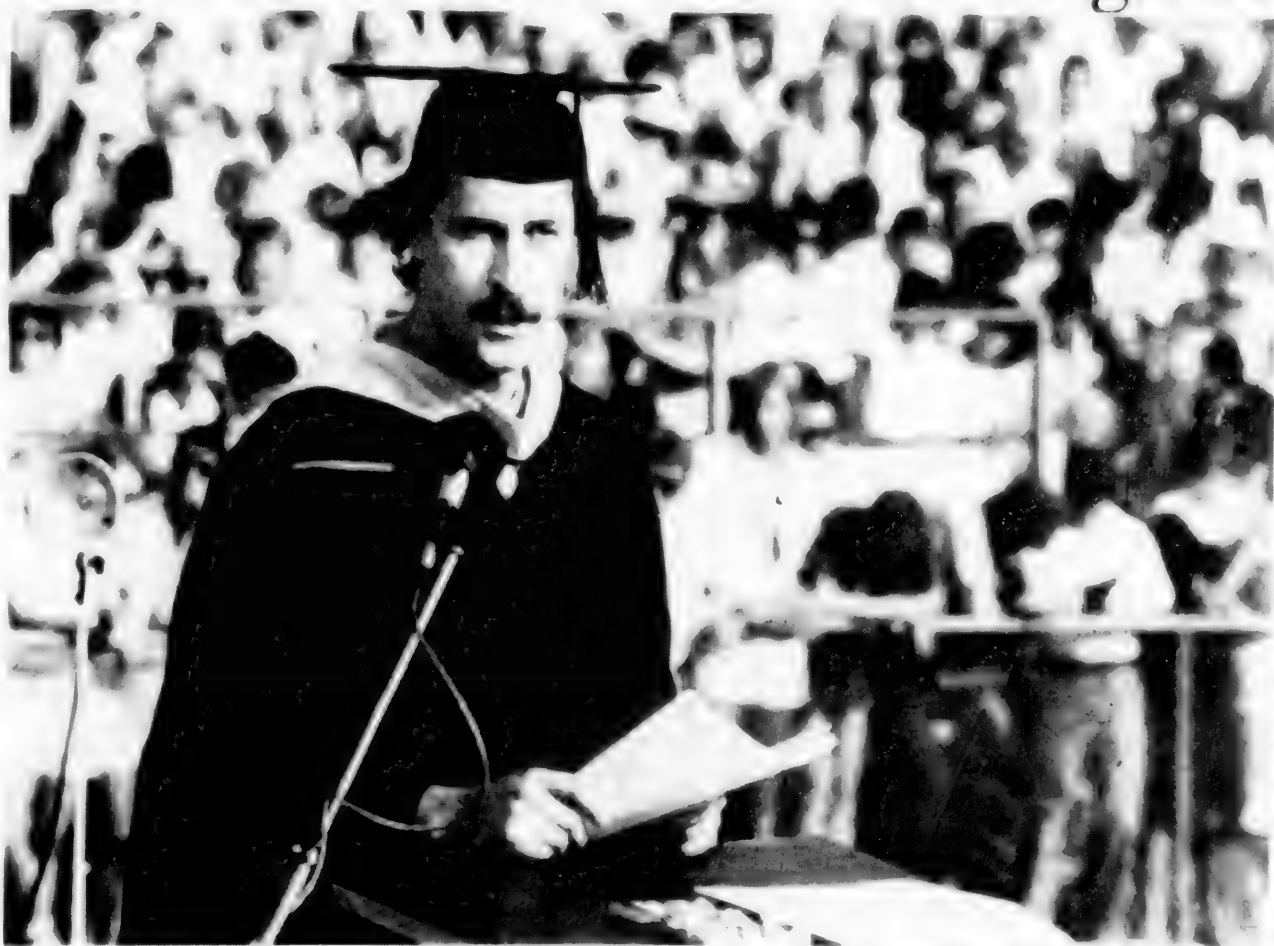

The 399 member class of 1984 got sunburns with their diplomas at the graduation ceremonies on Friday evening at Eugene V. Lovely Field.

The class of 1984 was described as a "visionary" group by Mary Athey Jennings, Andover High School Principal, as a packed stadium of over one thousand friends and relatives looked on. The students were rarely quiet, cheering and applauding as they were lining up for the familiar Pomp and Circumstance processional on to the field, after every speech, as their favorite educators were announced and even breaking into cheer following the opening prayer.

Although they sat with their backs to the sun, many of the graduates donned summer shorts under their black graduation gowns. The on-lookers too, brought sun shading hats, umbrellas and jugs of ice water to beat the oppressive heat. There was a private ambulance, hired by the school department, stationed at the ceremony as the temperatures hovered around the 100 degree mark. Fortunately none of those in attendance needed help from the medical technicians on stand-by.

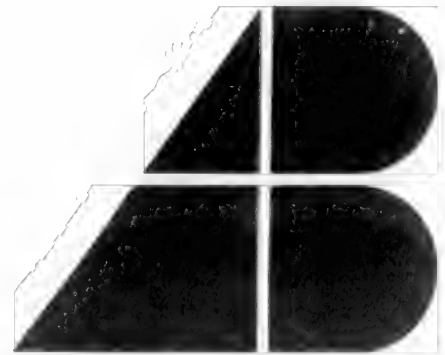

There wasn't a cloud in the sky but many things flew overhead at the Friday evening ceremony, this began at 5 p.m. Three airplanes circled the football field with messages for the graduates. Class of 1984 advisor Mike Marcoux sent one message that passed over the class as guest speaker Matt Siegel addressed the graduates. Siegel, a disc jockey at the Boston FM station KISS 108, interrupted his speech to note the passing of the plane. The message, from Marcoux, read "Andover High, '84 thanks for all your smiles and friendship—good luck—love Mike!" Two other signs, to individual graduates, also flew overhead. And, in addition to the airplanes, the graduates played a sort of volleyball game with two multi-colored beach balls, hitting them back and forth in the air as they sat in their seats. Soap bubbles were also floating over the graduates heads as they listened to the evening's speakers. And at the end, of course, the usual hats-off filled the sky with the mortarboards of the class of 1984.

Leading the class to their places on the field were class marshals Robin Pollack, the valedictorian, who was ranked first in the class; and salutatorian Maura King, second in the class of '84. The students heard from two classmates, King and Elaine Scanlon, who won the annual essay contest for the right to address their peers at graduation. The two students were presented with the Goldsmith public speaking awards.

Scanlon spoke first, opening her remarks with a quote from Charles Dickens noting the juxtaposition of a world where there is the best and the worst of all things. On a somewhat somber note Scanlon told the class of 1984 that the latest in technology put the world at their fingertips but also presented some moral decisions for every person.

"We can sit in our living rooms and witness events as far away as Lebanon or El Salvador. We are able to book a flight half way around the world and be back for dinner the next evening," explained Scanlon. "Yet, the scope of a world created by computerized technology often leaves us feeling lonely, isolated, and sometimes overwhelmed. It is up to us to find ways to distribute our food more equitably, to preserve our environment and find solutions to our energy problems."

She charged the class to confront problems "head on," saying that one person was able to make a difference.

King, who spoke next, talked of the long-awaited future as all of a sudden here. She said the graduates were accepting the challenge of moving on to the future by accepting their diplomas that evening. And, she added, her classmates would be the ones to solve problems like inflation and unemployment.

"No longer is our main concern getting enough credits to graduate," said King. "That is in the past. Our concern now is for the future— for that is where we will spend the rest of our lives."

The entire texts of both graduation essays appears elsewhere in this special section.

The third speaker was Matt Siegel who peppered his remarks with a look back at how he came to be one of Boston's well-known radio personalities. Siegel opened his speech to the graduates by turning his back to the audience and talking to the class, who he said he came to address. While he was sitting, awaiting his turn at the microphone, Siegel kept one hand curled up inside his black graduation gown. It became obvious what he was up to as he started to speak.

"I promised Mike I wouldn't do any Michael Jackson jokes," said Siegel, referring to something he said to Mike Marcoux. As he talked the disc jockey pulled his left hand out of his robe to reveal a spangled white glove, just like that worn by superstar Michael Jackson. The move brought laughter and a round of applause from the graduates and their guests.

Siegel told the class that before they tackled world peace and, he joked, the "central artery," alluding to Boston traffic, they should think of themselves. He told them to follow their dreams, those private thoughts that were hidden in the corners of their minds.

"Let all your private hopes come out of hiding," said Siegel. "Dreamers open windows that have been stuck closed. Sixteen years ago I had a dream: I wanted to be on the radio. I wanted people to know my name."

He told of how he started at an Arizona radio station where he lost his job for playing rock and roll music on a Sunday morning. Now in Boston, where he makes near $90 an hour, Siegel joked about how his parents, who thought him crazy for wanting to be on the radio, are now bursting with pride— and taking some credit for his success."

"You need something to fall back on," Siegal said his parents told him. "Now my father tells everybody he's the one who told me to go into broadcasting." Then getting serious Siegal said to the class "you do not need something to fall back on because you are not going to fall."

The master of ceremonies at the commencement was class president Christopher Scarpa, who gave the invocation and introduced a number of speakers. Class vice-president Dean Orfanedes led the Salute to the Flag.

Scarpa presented the class gift, a trophy case for the school front foyer, to Principal Jennings. She also received a West German flag from Henning Roettger, the American Field Service student from the Federal Republic of Germany. Roettger thanked his classmates for their friendship and patience with his use of the English language.

"You always laughed when I ordered chocolate ice cream with johnnies," said Roettger of his attempts to order a cone with "jimmies," as the chocolate bits are called.

Another presentation was made by Melvin Thomas as a student in the A Better Chance program, referred to as ABC. He gave a certificate to Craig Simpson, the teacher the four graduating ABC students wished to thank for his help and friendship.

A total of 60 scholarships worth more than $40,000 were awarded to members of the senior class by Superintendent of Schools Kenneth R. Seifert. Seifert told the audience this graduation, his fifteenth in Andover, was special to him because for the first time one of his children was graduating. Kim Seifert was among the 399 members of the class of 1984. (A complete listing of the scholarship recipients is elsewhere in this special edition.)

Music was provided by the school concert band and choir. Susan Burke sang the Star Spangled Banner and Cathy Snow conducted the band. Allan Minkinen led the band throughout the processional and recessional. The choir sang the Hallelujah Chorus by Handel during the ceremony. The group was accompanied by junior Michelle DeVoir. J. Everett Collins, a member of the class of 1913 after whom the new performing arts center is named directed the singers.

Students assisting with diplomas were John Duffy, Michael Griffin, Dawn McCoy, Richard Quintal, Karen Santagata, Elaine Scanlon and A.J. Sullivan.

'Best Of Times Worst Of Times'

By Elaine M. Scanlon
Co-recipient of the Goldsmith Award

It was the best of times, it was the worst of times. It was the age of wisdom, it was the age of foolishness... the epoch of belief, the epoch of incredulity... It was the season of light, it was the season of Darkness... the spring of hope, the winter of despair. We had everything before us. We had nothing before us.

It is ironic, I think, that the words which Charles Dickens used to describe a time over two hundred years ago are words which can be used, so aptly, to describe our world today.

For us, the nation's graduates of nineteen hundred and eighty-four, it is the best and yet also the worst of times.

We live in a world today where high technology has expanded our horizons-- computers have put knowledge at our fingertips and instant communication has made world-wide happenings only a tv switch away. We can sit in our living rooms and witness events as far away as Lebanon or El Salvador.

It is as easy today, to talk to someone on the other side of the world as it is to talk to our next-door neighbor.

We are able, through our technology, to book a night train way across the world and be back for dinner the next evening.

Yet, the scope of a world created by computerized technology often leaves us feeling lonely, isolated and sometimes overwhelmed.

We live in a world today where we can extend human life through the use of a machine-- we can transplant hearts, livers, kidneys-- we can grow life in a test tube.

Our life expectancy has been increased-- yet our suicide rate has been skyrocketing.

People are "living" to be much older-- yet that "living" is sometimes in pain and isolation, and where life ends as well as where life begins, has had to be tolerated.

Medical care has been improved-- yet how we distribute that care and who receives it are all too many times dependent on the pocketbook.

We are able in our laboratories, to produce new super strains of disease-resistant, drought-resistant, insect-resistant seeds. And through these improvements we are able to grow massive quantities of grain, corn, or anything we want.

In spite of this potential, countless human beings across the world starve to death every day, and yes, even here, in a land of plenty, people go to bed hungry.

We can put satellites in our atmosphere. We can re-use a spaceship. Nuclear power could be used as a prime source of our future energy. Yet nuclear weapons have left us facing the possibility of human annihilation.

We, the generation of the eighties, are faced with more questions, more conflicts, and more decisions than perhaps any generation before us has had to face.

Loneliness, isolation, a feeling of powerlessness, all these can tempt us to bury our heads in the sand and say that our opinion does not really count.

Yes, it is easy, in our computerized society, to feel sometimes that we are more a number than a human being, that we are insignificant against the vastness of our own technology.

But we must not forget that it is still up to us, the youth of the world today, to confront, head on, the problems of our society, and to meet, head on, the problems of our generation.

It is up to us to find ways to distribute our food more equitably, to preserve our environment, and find solutions to our energy problems.

We must, as the generation of the 1980's find ways to care for our elderly and find ways to insure quality education for the youths who come after us.

We must, as a generation, find a way to prevent the demise of the entire human race.

Let us not, however, look upon these responsibilities as a burden, but as a challenge. And let us remember that one person, truly, can make a difference.

In our world today, where each of us has felt a sense of loneliness, isolation and powerlessness, we are challenged to realize the importance of our

Graduation - A Time Of Nostalgia

by Maura King

Co-recipient of the Goldsmith Award

Maura King delivers her essay

As we are gathered here on graduation night we are probably all experiencing, on some level, nostalgia. A common thread that has drawn us all together. In fact, that is what graduation is— a time to reflect on the past, to think about our growth as individuals and as a community, to ponder our accomplishments and failures, the good times, the not-so-good times, and the sacrifices made to get ourselves to where we are now.

The end of senior year is sort of a state of limbo— although we have thought about our future and even made decisions affecting it, we have not had to actively take part in it. Until now. Graduation, when we realize that the flip side of the end of our high school career is tomorrow. And the next day, the whole lifeful of tomorrows that will make up the future.

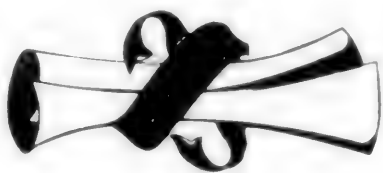

We happen to be commencing in 1984, the year of the brother. Upon realizing that George Orwell's 1984 year has arrived, we can be thankful that our world today doesn't closely resemble the one Orwell foresaw in 1948. 1984. One man's view of what the future would be like.

I can remember seeing that particular book sitting on a shelf at home and thinking "wow, 1984 is a long way off." But the year began to take on great significance for in the upper right hand corner of every official school document "year of graduation 1984" was inscribed. And though many of us, myself included, thought that the time would never come, it's here. The future is here.

It's sizeable and rather frightening though to be a part of the future, especially when it doesn't always look particularly bright. Inflation, unemployment, population and nuclear war, things we have discussed and debated in the classroom, now officially become our concerns as voting citizens. It would be much easier, therefore, to remain in the past but it is necessary that we move ahead whether it is to a job, to college, or some other type of further education, we must meet the challenges that the world and our society have placed before us. The town of Andover has put much time and effort into each of us via education—in order to prepare us for these challenges. By coming here to receive a diploma each of us accepts the challenge.

We may not know exactly what it is, or what our particular role will be but we are rehearsed enough to meet just about anything that comes along. For most of us a lot of trial and error will occur before we discover exactly what our place is in the future and how our small part will effect our generation as a whole. But that is the beauty of the future—for there is time for trial and error, time to make mistakes and correct them and time to make our dreams realities. There still are many years to come and many changes that will reshape our lives but now we will be the instigators of that change. We will have to find new ways to deal with inflation and unemployment, invent creative solutions to the population and energy crises and become the first generation to find a patent for world peace because we have no other alternative. John Fitzgerald Kennedy called young people the world's most valuable resource and its best hope for the future.

And right now with all this faith and hope placed in us by the next generation we cannot help but succeed each in our own way. No longer is our main concern getting enough credits to graduate—that is in the past. Our concern now is for the future—the future where we will spend the rest of our lives.

Baccalaureate Service

The Fifth Annual Senior Baccalaureate Service was held Sunday, June 3, at St. Augustine's church. The theme expressed "One Bridge to Cross, One Bridge We've Crossed." Photos clockwise from upper left: A.F.S. student, Henning Roettger of West Germany, shares the happy moments he experienced as an Andover High School student; Angela Thompson shares her reflections; Robert King advises seniors; Debbie Bartle leads the Andover High School Madrigals; Rev. David Melvin from South Church addresses the seniors and guests.

Scenes From Graduation

A look at the faces and moments from the 1984 Andover High School Graduation. Photos clockwise from upper left: Beth Deacon shares her umbrella with J. Everett Collins as they both seek relief from the heat; Laura Stratton, 15, helps her sister Jennifer, 17, with her gown. They live on Howell Drive; Beverly Poulin of Eastman Road and Debra Prussman of Center Street have a hug for one another; Shutter bugs line the fence using a variety of cameras to record the ceremony; Caps soar through the air, bringing the ceremony to an end; Tracy Anne Thompson congratulates her friend; ABC student, Jennette Molina congratulates ABC graduate, Ian Dowe; the heat and humidity failed to dampen the spirit of parents and friends of the graduates.

Over 100 Seniors Receive Awards

Over 100 Andover High seniors received awards at the annual school awards ceremony held on Friday, May 25, at the Sheraton-Rolling Green. The three class officers served as masters of the ceremonies at the two-and-one-half hour brunch, which began at 10 a.m.

Christopher Scarpa, president of the class of 1984, welcomed the guests. And Dean Orlandes, vice-president of the class, said the grace and introduced Superintendent of Schools Kenneth R. Seifert, who spoke to the soon-to-be graduates. Introducing the department heads, who each presented a number of academic awards, was class secretary-treasurer Michael Griffin.

Winner of the coveted Charles A. Gregory award for 1984 was Maura King, for best exemplifying the qualities of leadership, scholarship, school citizenship and athletic achievement. The award is presented by the graduating class of 1957 in honor of Gregory, a former social studies teacher and assistant principal, for 38 years, at Pynchard High School.

Christopher Scarpa won the William A. Doherty award which is presented to the member of the senior class who, in the opinion of the principal, has best exemplified the ideals of a leader and has shown a strong interest in the interests of the school.

Elaine Scanlon was awarded the Daughters of the American Revolution Good Citizen award. The Jewish War Veterans local and state award was presented to Moira Schwing.

Laurene Lazzaretti won the Paul Hopkins Memorial award, and Glen Markey was presented with the Peter Aumais Memorial award. The Scott E. Larosa Memorial scholarships were given to Julia Connolly and Steven McDowell.

Awards for participation in the student government went to John Duffy, Dawn McCoy, Richard Quintal, Karen Santagati, Elaine Scanlon and A.J. Sullivan, for their participation on the Student Activity Council.

Class officers Christopher Scarpa, president; Dean Orlandes, vice president; and Michael Griffin, secretary-treasurer, also won recognition awards.

The following English awards were presented: Conroy Award for the best extemporaneous essay by a senior, given by the Hon. Edward Conroy, former chairman of the School Committee, to Christopher Welch; Barnard Essay Contest award for a short story to Christopher Welch. Awards for outstanding students of English went to Maura King and Kathryn Schwartz. Christopher Welch also received an award for excellence in quality of work at Andover High School. The seniors who demonstrated the highest quality of work were Scott Newman and Christopher Wright.

The mathematics awards were given to Pamela McLaughlin, who won the statistics award, and Christopher Scarpa, who was recognized for outstanding achievement in mathematical reasoning. Kevin Flynn won the computer award for outstanding achievement in programming. The mathematics award for top overall score went to Adam Kolodny.

Awards in social studies were presented to Adam Kolodny, for outstanding achievement in social studies; Maura King, for outstanding achievement in American history; Katherine Koh, for outstanding performance in citizenship; and Kevin Flynn, for outstanding photography service to Andover High School. Jennifer Stratton was awarded the outstanding achievement in behavioral science award.

The Bausch and Lomb award for the senior who has attained the highest scholastic standing in science went to Elizabeth Thomann.

Foreign language awards were presented to Christine Bennett, Kevin Flynn and Melissa Kerley, for outstanding academic achievement in French, level four. Marybeth Hobbs and Colleen Johnson were recognized for outstanding academic achievement in French, level five. And recognized for their outstanding achievement in Spanish, level five, were Carolyn Bishop, Pamela Clement and Edmund Hardy.

Business awards were given to: Robin Garabedian, who won the Andover Educational Secretaries Association award in recognition of high caliber of work in the business department. Cheryl Lasota and Beth Murphy won the Marjorie O'Dowd awards. And Jeffrey Wolnik was recognized for excellence in accounting for two years with an award given to a student who will pursue a career in accounting.

Business skills awards were presented to: Hang Dang, Ann Marie Grogan and Karen Santagati for shorthand, level one. Robin Garabedian won an award for typewriting, level three. Typewriting, level two awards were presented to Robin Douglas and Kertilyn Walshe. Winning typewriting, level one, awards were Dawn Aikman, Denise Ferris, Ellen Igoe and Joanne Saalfrank. The accounting, level one, award were given to Peter Devney and Robin Pollack. Christopher Scarpa won an award for outstanding achievement in accounting, level one.

David Caiati was awarded the certificate of merit for occupational education. And the Missions Industrial Education Society presented an occupational education award to Christopher Welch.

Awards in physical education and athletics were presented to: Dolyne DiVino and Ian Dowe, for excellence in athletics. The Donald D. Dunn awards for excellence in physical education were given to Susan Nawn and Richard Quintal. Lorna Turgiss and Mark Nardone won the Kenneth McKinry awards given annually to the students who have demonstrated sportsmanship and leadership to the varsity basketball teams both on and off the courts. And James Cleary was presented with the Alfred Lord award for outstanding loyalty and dedication to the sports program in a supportive role.

Winning yearbook awards were Wesley Bedrosian, David Caiati, Kevin Flynn, Sharon French, Maegan Hughes, Maura King and Heather Wilson, for significant contribution to the 1984 Andover High School yearbook. Recognized for the most outstanding contribution to the annual book by a single student was Christopher Welch.

Newspaper awards for outstanding service were presented to Wesley Bedrosian, Carolyn Bishop, James Heron and Kim Kupa.

Art awards were presented to Mary Carlisle, for excellence in a senior art portfolio, and to Jeffrey Bloor, Shariene Galvin and Robin Pollack, for excellence in photography.

The John Philip Souza band award was presented to Christie Lyons. Winner of the Count Basie award for participation in the band was Katherine Gorman. And outstanding senior instrumentalists Kathleen O'Connor and Catherine Snow will have their photographs hung in the band room gallery.

Choral music awards were presented to: Maura King, who won the national school choral award; Debra Bartle, who won the choral parents award; Bronwyn Niece, who was presented the Miriam McCardle music award; and Susan Burke, who won the William A. Doherty award. Laura Hovious and Andrew Shattuck were presented with the Andover Choral Society awards.

Choral award winners were Anita Barbagallo, Mary Driscoll, Kevin Lambright, David Pascucci and Tracy Wagner.

Drama awards were given to Anita Barbagallo, Debra Bartle, Susan Chapman, Kenneth Flynn, Kevin Flynn, James Heron, Marybeth Hobbs, Laura Hovious, Maura King, Karen Kulig, Kevin Lambert, Christine McCarthy, David Pascucci, Paul Salvi, Andrew Shattuck, A.J. Sullivan, Heather Taylor and Keith Tynan.

Audi invites you to take a closer look at three of our most amazing engineering feats. Our Prices.

4000S TWO-DOOR SPORTS SEDAN

$12,640

4000S FOUR-DOOR SPORTS SEDAN

$13,240

4000S QUATTRO SPORTS SEDAN

$14,830

When you consider how well equipped each Audi 4000S is, it's quite an engineering feat that they are so affordable.

The two 4000S sports sedans, for example, are aerodynamically sleek, feature front-wheel drive, rack-and-pinion steering, advanced fuel injected 4 cylinder engines, air conditioning, cruise control and the sort of comforting ergonomic interiors you expect in German luxury sport sedans. The surprise is, the engineering and luxury is not optional.

But the biggest surprise is the 4000S Quattro. It's the car that history will record as pivotal in the evolution of the passenger car. The German engineers at Audi combined permanent all-wheel drive with independent four-wheel suspension and four-wheel disc brakes to bring the driver a keener sensation of handling, cornering and stopping performance. And the interior appointments make it possible for passengers to enjoy this new driving experience as much as the driver.

The Audi sports sedans are worth a closer look. And even better than a look, a test drive. After you've experienced Audi's amazing engineering feats for yourself, we think you'll agree, the prices are sheer genius. 24 Month Unlimited Mileage Warranty.

Essay

individual contributions.

For although the world needs strong leaders, the world also needs strong followers. Followers who are informed, who really care, and will give support to what they believe in. For a leader can only have as much influence as his followers will allow him to have—and it is, in the end, the followers who must carry out what it is that the leader begins. For a leader is only an inspirer—a beginner of ideas, someone who plants the seeds.

And so today, in nineteen hundred and eighty four, as we graduate from Andover High School, we must be prepared for the fact that our world is changing. And we must be ready for the challenges which lie ahead.

Enriched by the lessons which our educators have taught us, we must be aware that education is an ongoing process. We must take the responsibility for keeping ourselves educated in this changing world. We must use our talents to help solve these problems.

For whether we are the leaders or the followers—scientists or technicians, businessmen, politicians or educators—we all have a role to play in the outcome of our world.

Let each of us take that role seriously. Let each of us use our talents to meet these challenges. For if we do so we will, indeed, "have everything before us."

Andover's Downtown Alive

While there has never been any question about the fact that Andover's central business district is alive and well, events of these past few weeks should eliminate any doubt.

Consider the sale of the Cole Hardware building and business to Scanlon's Hardware as a starter and move on to such things as new ownership of the R. L. Peterson Store on Main street, a new restaurant on the main thoroughfare, continued expansion of the Andover Bank building and the town's planners and merchants looking seriously at the downtown parking situation in the downtown area with an eye toward resolving the problem.

This, of course, goes along with the proposed shopping mall off Park street fronted by a new municipal parking lot, which, in itself, should go a long way toward easing some of the downtown parking problems.

The sale of the Cole Hardware building is an interesting one. It brings about a business transaction consummated by two long-time Andover merchants, leaving one, Milt Cole, to turn his talents in a new direction and the other, William Scanlon, to expand and improve a business nurtured since 1970 on the town's Main street.

The absence of Mr. Cole from the Andover business community will result in the loss of one of the most optimistic merchants the town has known. When he told the TOWNSMAN last week that 'every day has been fun,' since he began in business here in 1950, there certainly was no reason to doubt him. Even in difficult economic times, when business obviously could have been better, Milt would reply to the stock question of 'How's business?' with a positive response, such as, 'I can't complain.'

For Bill Scanlon, the opportunity to expand his business presents an opportunity for an Andover resident to become a part of the growth of the downtown area. He enthusiastically looks forward to making some building changes and improving his business through the added floor space the acquisition affords.

The Andover Bank will acquire the Scanlon property once it is vacated and dedicate it to retail space. The bank has made a major commitment to downtown Andover in recent years with its additions needed for its own operations, as well as providing new shops on the first floor or street level, a move they will continue with the hardware store.

All of this bodes well for Andover's future and with the merchants and planners working together to attempt to resolve parking problems things should get even better.

It has never been positively convincing that downtown Andover has major parking problems. There is inconvenience from time to time, in other words a person may have to walk a little further than desired, but pretty generally there is parking available.

With the additional spaces at the new Park street lot available when completed, things should improve even more.

Attentiveness to commuter or all-day parking would seem to be in need of the greatest attention and it is assumed those examining the parking situation will address that issue.

There will, of course, be other problems in the business area to be resolved from time to time, as the section continues to meet the growing pains of its own area, as well the town.

But a cursory glance at what is happening now and the potential of the area gives every indication that this section of the town is vibrant and well.

The Public Forum

A Caring Administrator

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

Edward I. Erickson, former superintendent of Andover schools, who died recently, was an intelligent, compassionate man who cared deeply for his students and faculty. He was educated in the liberal arts at Bates College as well as in the art of administration at the Harvard Graduate School of Education.

His office was always open to teachers and administrators who came with ideas, concerns and problems to which he listened with sympathy and responded with sound advice.

Much has been made of his intense interest in the athletic teams. This is true and commendable. I found him equally interested in other extra-curricula activities such as dramatics, the wonderfully varied programs of the music department, the school publications and the foreign language clubs. He even came to the Roman Banquet, staged yearly by the Latin department, clad appropriately in a toga.

When he called for a full faculty meeting, no one would have considered being absent. He was too highly respected. We were there to be encouraged, informed of school board decisions and graciously commended for our efforts.

There was a dignity and compassion in Ed Erickson. He took care of important things himself. Where there was severe illness or sorrow in his school family, he made a personal visit to offer help and comfort.

His own prolonged illness, coupled with his wife's and the loss of two beloved children, might have made him bitter; instead he became increasingly compassionate. Fortunately, he lived to see the three of five children of his only daughter grow to maturity. They and his wife, as well as many church and town friends, made joyful the last few years of a life fraught with physical discomfort.

The service in his praise, conducted by Dr. Westy Egmont in South Church, manifested the love, respect and gratitude of the Andover community. May the scholarship in his memory, held by the Andover Savings Bank for use by worthy Andover students also reflect our gratitude and respect. He would have wished for nothing better.

Dorothy T. Partridge

A former school board member for 12 years and principal of East Junior High School until her retirement.

Appeals Board Commended

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

This letter is being written to commend the Board of Appeals, and especially Mr. Wesley E. Whitney for its sensitive and realistic evaluation of the proposed funeral home on South Main Street. The application for a variance to the towns bylaws was not only contrary to article 15, which directly denies the allowance of a funeral home in a "Single Residence B," area but also many other sections.

The town has established a zoning by-law for the purpose of protecting specific zoned areas from uncontrolled expansion (witness the Route 28 area in North Reading). The intent of this document is to preserve the land in its natural state. The zoning by-law document should be honored and enforced.

Speaking now with deep practical and emotional concern, we along the South Main Street area take pride in our properties, their landscaping and upkeep of our homes. We chose to settle here because we wished to live in a country setting and believed the laws would protect us to this end. Our properties mark the beginning of one of the most beautiful stretches of South Main Street—the gateway to Phillips Academy and the town of Andover. Should a variance such as that proposed for a funeral home be granted other industry would surely follow. Our quaint, rural atmosphere would become yet another fallen victim to the urban spread. We deserve better than this—the town of Andover deserves better than this.

For those above stated reasons we have formed a coalition of neighborhood residents bent on preventing or controlling any further rampant changes in traffic, noise, pollution, property devaluation, drainage and signs. Our intent is to prevent industry from encroaching upon residential areas and we will engage all possible facilities to achieve this end.

The Friends Of South Main Street
Frank Drozdick
Jennifer Drozdick
Michael Drozdick

Unconvinced

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

The Early Childhood Center at Shawsheen School will be a reality this September. But, I remain unconvinced of the total benefits of this center to the kindergarteners versus the present system. I still contend that

1. Learning not to disturb the older children is an important fact of school life that these little ones should learn before the first grade.

2. What better way to learn about going to school and effect a smooth transition to first grade than going to the school where the kindergarteners can see every day the first graders and the older children. In fact, that was one of the most thrilling aspects of kindergarten for my first grader.

3. A school with so many three-to-six-year olds will now make kindergarten merely an extension of nursery school, rather than a transition to first grade.

Fewer Students Anticipated

School enrollments are dropping and next year there will be fewer students in each classroom except the kindergarten and readiness classes at the new Early Childhood Center at the Shawsheen School according to enrollment projections from Kenneth R. Seifert, superintendent of schools.

Classes will average 21 students to each teacher. And with a total of 4,958 students enrolled to date there are 6.6 percent fewer students than there were enrolled in the town's schools this past January. The figures were presented by Seifert at Tuesday night's Andover School Committee meeting.

Enrollment drops are the largest in the elementary schools. As of Tuesday evening there were 754 students enrolled at West Elementary which has the largest drop of 15 percent, down from the 883 in January. Next is Bancroft with a 14 percent decrease from 627 to 540 students. South School has 13 percent less students than it did in January with 371 signed up as opposed to the 426 in January. And the Sanborn School will have 9 percent fewer students with 405 set for the fall compared with 444 last January.

The Shawsheen kindergarten and readiness students, who will be in their own building for the first time next September, so far have 378 students for the fall compared with the 330 divided between the town's elementary school kindergartens in January. That represents a 13 percent increase.

Drops in the secondary schools are somewhat less than the elementary schools with the Andover High showing a projection of 1,212 students for the fall, 5 percent less than the 1,271 enrolled in January. At the Doherty Junior High there will be 9 percent fewer students with 646 signed up compared to the 652 last winter. And at West Junior High School there were 680 students at the school in January which is 4 percent more than are scheduled to attend the school in September — a total of 652.

Seifert told the committee members he would keep them informed as the enrollments change throughout the summer.

build four additional offices on a building at 54 Andover St., owned by Roland and Regina Doyle, Apache Avenue. Andover Street neighbors of the property told the board that the traffic near the Doyle's building was very busy. Several accidents have happened there in the last few months, they said.

The board also voted down a request from Paul Bekkenhuis, of North Reading, to build a funeral home on residentially-zoned land on South Main Street. (See other story, this issue.)

Lesson Provided

Those present at last week's School Committee meeting had a history lesson from Doherty Junior High School seventh grader Peter Pichulski and his mother, Rosemary.

The two were involved in a project to commemorate the 25th birthday of the South School which they chronicled by tracing the history of the Ballardvale area back 100 years. While a South School student last year, Peter was involved with a group of sixth grade students who worked on the task while Rosemary met with some South School parents of the sixth graders to work on the research.

A drawing of the area around South School was completed by South parent Maurine Burke and given to the board last night.

The fear that he might conceal a crime was said to be one reason that Benjamin Franklin was not entrusted to write the Declaration of Independence.

Kitchen Design

David A. Clement, designer

Microwave ovens are thoroughly tested by every manufacturer to meet the standards of government regulating agencies. Federal standards require that every microwave sold in the U.S. have special systems to ensure that production of microwave energy stops when the door is opened. Some manufacturers build in even more safeguards so that the microwave will not operate until the oven door is locked, the operating control set and the oven is started. Special seals around the edge of the door, such as the "choke seal", ensure reflection of energy into the cavity. Special latches in the door also help to prevent microwave energy leaks. In the 30 years these ovens have been in use in American homes, there has not been one federally documented case of human injury.

With everyone having different schedules, mealtime doesn't seem like a family affair anymore. The microwave oven has certainly helped alleviate the constant cooking for mom. However, many kitchens are more cluttered because there's no natural place for this oven. Come to WINDSOR KITCHENS at 1181 Boston Rd., Ward Hill, and we'll design a layout of cabinets that will include your microwave and give you added space. We know all the ins and outs of kitchens and how important location of all your appliances is. See us Mon-Thurs 9-5:30; Fri til 8; Sat til 2 & by appt. Tel. 372-3444.

College Joins Conference

In a long awaited move, Merrimack College has shed its "independent" status in intercollegiate athletics and joined the Northeast Eight (NE-8) Conference.

Merrimack President Rev. John E. Deegn, O.S.A., recently accepted an invitation by NE-8 member institutions requesting that Merrimack become the newest member of the four-year-old conference. Merrimack's number came up when the University of Hartford announced it was leaving the conference and jumping to a Division One league, thus leaving a vacancy.

With Merrimack College filling the opening, the NE-8 Conference is now comprised of eight, private New England schools, six of them from Massachusetts and one each from Rhode Island and New Hampshire. Merrimack joins Assumption College in Worcester, American International College and Springfield College, both in Springfield, Bentley College in Waltham, Bryant College in Smithfield, R.I., Saint Anselm College in Manchester, N.H., and Stonehill College in North Easton.

In many ways it may be hard to notice any changes resulting from Merrimack's inclusion in the NE-8 Conference. Their 11 intercollegiate varsity sports teams have traditionally scheduled games with all seven conference opponents over the years. However, most Merrimack teams will benefit by being included in conference playoffs and championships. As "independents" Merrimack varsity teams were without conference titles and championships to strive towards.

One notable exception, of course, is the Merrimack hockey team which competes annually for the Eastern College Athletic Conference (ECAC) and National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Division Two crowns. Merrimack's inclusion in the NE-8 Conference will have no bearing on the Warriors' prestigious hockey program. The hockey team will continue to compete in the ECAC East division with ECAC and NCAA championships the perennial goal.

Other sports, such as men's and women's basketball, will derive immediate benefits from Merrimack's inclusion in the NE-8 Conference. Playoffs are held towards the end of the basketball season.

Men's and women's playoff winners then receive an automatic berth to the NCAA Division Two regional tournaments. In past years Merrimack's men's and women's basketball teams have relied solely on won-loss records to attract the attention of NCAA tournament selection committees. As an unwritten rule, that meant that the men's basketball team had to win at least 18 or 20 games out of 27 during the regular season to even be considered for an at large selection for the NCAAs.

Inter-League Majors

Orioles 8 - Pirates 3

The Orioles defeated the Pirates 8-3 behind the two hit pitching of Brett Hammond who struck out six Pirates enroute to his third victory.

In the Oriole first, Mike D'Angelo singled and moved to third on Hammond's double. Chip Stelia singled to score both runners. In the second Pete Arthur singled home Kirk McConville who had walked.

The Pirates narrowed the gap in the fourth when Scott Lanouette skied a Hammond fast ball deep to right center for a home run.

The Orioles put the game out of reach in the fifth. Tom DeBenedictis, Sean Garrity and Adam Goddess hit consecutive singles. D'Angelo doubled to drive home DeBenedictis and Garrity. Goddess scored on an errant Pirate play. David Carriere's double in the sixth added an insurance run.

In addition to Lanouette's homer, Jeff Hurley singled in the Pirates half of the third. Lanouette pitched a competitive game in a hard-luck effort.

D'Angelo and Hammond each had three hits and Carriere a pair. Oriole second baseman Garrity played a superb game in the field.

Yankees 7 - Mets 6

The American League Yankees won their third game of the year by edging the Mets 7-6 in a well played, extra-innings game. The Yankees took the lead in the first inning on singles by Jeff Foley and Jonathan Lewis and walks to Pat Hayes, Steve Liaw and Mike Pettoruto. The Mets came back to take the lead in the second inning by scoring four runs on singles by Alan Hanley, David Tucker and Steffan Tomlinson. Hanley singled and Tucker doubled in the third inning to increase the Mets' lead to 5-2. The final Mets' run was scored in the sixth inning on singles by Bill Batchelder and Ryan Legrow. The Yankees came back and scored four runs in the fifth and sixth innings on six walks and a run-scoring single by David Hughes. The Yankees clinched the victory in the seventh inning on singles by Foley and the game-winning hit by Hayes.

Jim Landry, Batchelder and Hanley made fine plays defensively for the Mets. Jonathan Lewis, Matt Jennings and Craig DerAnanian played strong games for the Yankees. Pitching duties were handled by Ben Russell, James Landry and Ryan Legrow for the Mets and David Hughes, Pat Hayes and Kevin Murphy combined to pitch extremely well for the Yankees.

National League Minors

By Andy Shea

After a full week rain-out of games, a full schedule this week saw the Phillies and Pirates rise from the ashes to challenge the Giants for first place.

The Giants have slowly, but methodically, moved from last to first place with a record of 5 wins, 3 losses and a tie. Stars of the week were John Eckels, Stephen Corbett and Justin Hesenius.

After three straight wins the Phillies are tied for second with five wins in nine tries. Key players were Joseph Fillipon, Emmett Sykes and John Shea.

The Pirates have won four of five games to tie for second place. Andrew Novelline, Adam Galaburda and the Capeless brothers excelled.

The second three teams are all within striking distance of the league championship.

After failing to win their last three tilts, the Cardinals record is 3 wins, 4 losses and a tie. Weekly stars were Stephen Neal, Jeff Fluhr and Brian MacIntire.

The Dodgers dropped two contests to lower their record to 4 wins, 5 losses. Special players were Keogh Lutsch, Denny Godwin and Barret Elliot.

After an awesome start the Braves have been on the losing end of four straight games to slip to 4 wins, 5 losses and a tie. Kudos to Scott Halecki, Jason Connolly and Keith Lyons.

Gem Show

Ever wonder about that ring rattling around in your jewelry box? You inherited it from your great-aunt, but you don't know what the stone is. Or how about that pendant you picked up last year at that flea market. It's pretty, but are the stones real? And what do you actually know about the jewelry you see in the stores. Some gem stones have fancy sounding names, but are they really what they seem to be? If you've always been puzzled about these things, then the place to go is the 21st Annual New England Gem and

Mineral Show at the Masconomet Regional Center, located off the Route 95 Endicott Road exit in Topsfield, Saturday, June 16, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Little League Majors

White Sox 5 - Mets 2

The White Sox defeated the Mets 5-2 behind the two hit, 14 strikeout pitching of Chris Eggert. They opened the scoring in the top of the first when Eggert hit a towering home run to stake a 1-0 lead. In the top of the third, the White Sox struck for four runs to put the game away. Brad Cronin led with a walk, followed by a single by Peter Kannam and a walk by Eggert to load the bases. Mike DiStefano hit back to the pitcher for a force out of Cronin at home. After a walk to Chris Kew, Tyler Vadeboncoeur doubled to clear the bases and a 5-0 lead by the White Sox. The Mets got two runs in the fourth when Hanley doubled home Batchelder and Latanzio.

White Sox 19 - Cardinals 7

The White Sox won their second game in a row by beating the National League Cardinals 19-7. The attack was led by Chris Eggert who hit three home runs, two in one inning, including a grand slam, eight RBIs and scored four runs. Peter Kannam went 3-for-3 and scored four runs while Michael DiStefano was 2-for-4 and had three RBIs. The Cardinals were led by Sean Gill with three hits, including a home run, and Jason Proctor with two hits. Brian Yergatian pitched two-hit ball for three innings while striking out six Cardinal batters.

White Sox 26 - Indians 6

The White Sox won their third game of the second half of the season by beating the Indians 26-6. Tyler Vadeboncoeur was 4-for-6 with 5 runs scored and 3 RBIs. Chris Eggert went 5-for-6 with 2 runs scored and 4 RBIs. Michael DiStefano and Jonathan Shine shared the pitching duties for the White Sox allowing only five hits and striking out six. Brian Yergatian (2 hits, 2 RBIs), Chris Kew (2 hits) and Bobby Henderson (2 hits, 2 RBIs and 2 runs scored) aided the White Sox cause. John Mellilo played well defensively and contributed a hit and scored two runs.

The Indians got hits from Chris Pothier, Mike Zetser, Chris Stein, Todd Roycroft and Mark Baker.

On The Soccer Fields

By She Livermore
And Margaret Cronin

The Essex County League is winding down and the In-Town program has one week to go. The Cobras, an Under 12 Girls team, were selected to represent the county in the Massachusetts Regional Tournament last weekend in Westfield. The Andover girls prevailed and will represent Massachusetts in the Eastern Regionals in Niagara Falls on the July 4th weekend.

Brief results of all games played last weekend in the heat appear below:

Under 19 Division

Andover Stompers 6

Danvers Falcons 2

Andover Stompers 7

Danvers Falcons 2

In back-to-back games the Stompers overwhelmed Danvers, dominating throughout and recording 6-2 and 7-2 victories. Scoring in the first match were Curt Oliver (4 goals), Paul Hevehan and Jeff Kennedy. Rich Boucher, Nick Bates, Oliver and Hevehan earned assists. In the second encounter Oliver kicked in a hat trick, Hevehan (2) with John Drake and Boucher adding singles; assisting were Eric Penney, Steve McDowell, Oliver, Hevehan and Boucher. The team finished the season with a 6-3 record. BOW: Les McDowell.

Andover Rowdies 1

Beverly Raiders 2

Erin Sheehan put Andover in the lead when she beat the keeper to the ball and blasted it into the net. Beverly tied it up and added another to lead 2-1 at the half. The hot weather slowed down the tempo in the second half and with no further tallies, Beverly won the victory. BOW: Goalkeeper Kathy Neves, Aimee Ross and Erin Sheehan.

Under 16 Division

Andover Avengers 2

Rowley Olympians 7

With only eight players on hand, the Avengers had a difficult time competing with a full complement of Rowley Olympians. Rowley led 4-0 at the half and added two more midway through the second half. The Avengers worked hard to deny the shutout even though they were outnumbered and ultimately Henning Ohlenbusch scored unassisted, then added another on a pass from Matt Murphy and the Avengers accomplished their objective.

BOW: The valiant eight, Andy Lascher, Jules Maderos, Rusty Leonard, David Rehe, David Penney, Jim Tann, Murphy and Ohlenbusch.

Andover Flames 2

Salem Shooting Stars 0

The Andover Flames handed undefeated Salem their first loss of the season. Karen Sopp scored in the first half on a pass from Anne Kannam and Torrie Fitzpatrick to put the Flames ahead. Julie Boland completed the scoring when she received a pass from Cheryl Crawford, dribbled the ball right around the Salem keeper and put it into the net. BOW: Denise Doran, Kelly Johnson and Windy Carothers.

Andover Titans 6

Danvers Oilers 7

With only nine players on hand the Titans were at a disadvantage competing with a full complement of Danvers Oilers. They held their own, coming back time and again to tie it up, but time ran out eventually and the Oilers, with a one-goal advantage, won the hard-fought victory. Scoring for Andover were Andy Shea with a hat trick on passes by David Sampson and Stephen Bertetti. Adam Clark assisted by Shea, and Bertetti 2, one on a direct kick and the other assisted by Shea. BOW: Joey DiFraia and Jeffrey Goodman.

American Little League

Yankees 8 - Red Sox 3

The American League Yankees broke open a close game scoring five runs in the fifth inning and went on to post an 8-3 victory over the Red Sox. The Yankees combined 10 hits, 3 walks and some good base running to score their runs. Leading the Yankees offensively was Pat Hayes, (3 hits), Jeff Foley (2 hits), Brian Davies (2 hits), David Hughes, Jonathan Lewis and Mike Pettoruto (1 hit apiece). The Red Sox had two hits and received six walks to score their three runs. The hits were produced by Paul Lembo and David Sopp.

Defensively, Jeff Hayes, Pat Hayes, Mike Pettoruto and David Hughes played well for the Yankees. George Bilge was the tough luck loser, pitching the complete game, striking out two batters while walking six others.

Skaters Win Medals

Three local girls, representing the Wilmington Figure Skating Club, competed recently in the Colonial Open at the Colonial Figure Skating Club in action.

Lindsay McCracken of Andover won a gold medal when she placed first in the Juvenile Figure category. Mari Fukuda of Tewksbury placed second in the Preliminary Freestyle category. Julie Palmquist of Andover also competed in the Preliminary Freestyle group.

The Wilmington Figure Skating Club presented "Ice Crystals '84" contests included Jennifer Armstrong and Andrea Marino of Wilmington, Loanne Baine and Fukuda of Tewksbury, Gretchen Ede of North Reading and McCracken and Palmquist of Andover.

P.A. Softball Team Finishes 9-2 Season

The Phillips Academy varsity softball team recently completed a successful 9-2 season with the help of five Andover residents. Starting for the varsity were seniors Captain Caroline Higgins, Anna Mattedi and Kathy Mulvey, Kate Marple and Nicole Grieco. Members of the class of '86 backed up the starting nine and showed great potential.

The team advanced to the finals of the MISGA tournament with a 4-3 win over Lane Hall. In the final, Phillips averaged a regular season 6-1 loss with a well played 4-2 victory over Cushing Academy for the championship. The 1984 season capped a fine three year record of 28-3 for the senior.

Visiting Day

Saugus Sachems 3

Andover Kicks 1

North Andover Hurricanes 4

Saugus went ahead 2-0 in the first half. They added one more to their total in the second half and denied all of Andover's attempts to deny the shut-out to win 3-0. BOW: Erin O'Boyle and Lee Anne Batal.

North Andover scored early in the game. Kim Wagner tied it up for Andover when she blasted the ball into the net from the side. The competition came back with another in the first half and added two more in the second to win a decisive 4-1 victory. BOW: Marsha Hollis and O'Boyle.

Under 14 Division

Andover Sting 3

Marblehead Vikings 7

Andover Sting 1

Peabody Rowdies 3

Marblehead led 5-3 at the half with Rich Atkinson, Jim Sullivan and Tom Cioffi scoring for Andover, assisted by Jeff Leonard and Steve Napolitano. In the second half Marblehead's defense denied Andover any more opportunities to score and their forward line added two more goals to win 7-3. BOW: Tony Cioffi and Craig Costanzo.

Peabody scored early in the contest. Tom Cioffi kicked in the ball on a pass from Atkinson to tie it. Peabody came back with another and then added an insurance goal to win 3-1. BOW: Doug Bleszinski, Jim Murphy, Robert Stoltz for some great goal-keeping, and Napolitano.

Andover Blasters 2

Peabody Power 3

In a contest that was shortened due to the extreme heat, Peabody scored the extra goal for the hard-fought victory. Peabody went ahead early in the game. Eric Tupper made it a tie when he kicked in a loose ball in front of the net. Peabody responded to make it 2-1. John Mattola kept Andover in contention when he chipped in the ball high over the keeper's head. Both teams worked hard for the game winner and Peabody prevailed when they blasted in a ball which the defense had failed to clear. BOW: Booth Kyle and Al Kang.

Andover Strikers 2

Andover Blazers 1

Andover Strikers 1

Marblehead Marauders 0

The Blazers scored in the opening minutes of the game which then broke for a thunderstorm. In the second half, Nina Sheel outran the defense, dribbled around another fullback and took a long, hard shot to tie it up. Both teams worked hard for the extra goal and the win and when Shaleen Cassily booted in the ball on a pass from Sheel, the Strikers won. BOW: Melissa Kirkiles, Julie Darwin and Cheryl Kluck.

The only goal of the game played in the 100 weather was kicked in by Cassily who dribbled the ball round two defenders and took a shot from the left corner of the penalty area which sailed in over the keeper's outstretched hands to win the victory for Andover. BOW: Kathleen Radulski, Jodi Jangro and Joan Asgeirsson.

Andover Panthers 3

Marblehead Eagles 1

Marblehead went ahead early in the game, following a defensive miscue. Mary Ellen Green made it a tie when she scored on a pass from Laura Cox. Kelly Hajj made it 2-1 in the second half with the assist going to Cox and Marisa Murtgagh kicked in an insurance goal unassisted to give Andover a 3-1 victory. BOW: Kim Philbin, Melina Mills and Katherine Harris.

Andover Express 2

Marblehead Eagles 9

The Express were overwhelmed by a strong Marblehead team, determined to break a scoring record. They did kick in nine, however. Andover denied the shutout when Jeanine Meckel scored on a corner kick and Diane Hevehan blasted in the ball from the side. BOW: Lisel Goetze and Betsy Frankenberger.

Under 12 Division

Porpoises 2 - Stingrays 1

The Porpoises were able to get on the scoreboard in the first period of play against the Stingrays. Both goals for the Porpoises were scored by Minh VanNguyen with assists going to Dallas Babineau, Peter Arthur and Tyler Maheu. The Stingrays tightened up their defense and were able to break the shutout when Fred Hohn broke through the Porpoises' defense for the score. BOW: Mike Costello and Jeff Stein (Stingrays), Allan Stratton, Marc Levitan, Mike Aponick and John Kulscar (Porpoises).

Barracudas 4 - Morays 0

The Barracudas were able to come away with the victory in their game against the Morays with goals scored by Jamie Damon (2), Kevin Meisinger and Sanjay Sheel with an assist going to Robert Dawley. The Morays kept trying but were unable to break through the tight defense of the Barracudas. BOW: John Thompson, Paul Enosi and Robert Dawley (Barracudas).

Andover Cobras 2 Georgetown Smurfettes 1

In their first encounter, the Cobras were beaten by Georgetown 3-0. With both teams ending the season with an identical record, they had to play each other again to decide the Essex County championship and, in order to win the coveted crown, Andover had to beat Georgetown by four goals. The Cobras gave it their best effort but much of the time they had to get by ten defenders to make a good shot on net which made things rather difficult. They won the hard-fought contest 2-1, but Georgetown won the county championship. Scoring for Andover were Kathy Doran whose picture-perfect corner kick went sailing into the net from the left side and Erin Lynch with the assist going to Elizabeth Shea and Doran. BOW: Bridget Murphy, Suzanne Gianelly, Megan Sheehan, Dennis Doran, Jay Saunders and Dick Hanson.

Andover Cobras 3 - Concord 1

Andover Cobras 3 Framingham Aces 0

The Cobras were selected to represent the county in the Massachusetts Regional Tournament. In their first encounter they beat Concord 3-1 with goals by Jodi Sanders who kicked in two and Shea, assisting were Lynch and Doran. BOW: Andrea Duffy, Susan Goldstein and Michelle Vetrano.

In the final game the Cobras had to get by last year's U-12 state champions, the Framingham Aces, and they did, winning 3-0. Jodi Saunders put them in the lead 22 minutes into the half with the assist going to Goldstein and Gianelly. Saunders made it 2-0 early in the second half on passes from Lynch and Doran. In the closing moment of play Saunders scored a hat trick on a pass from Gianelly and the Cobras became the 1984 Massachusetts Regional champions. Nicole (the) made two great corner kick and the second of a definite goal. BOW: Larry Baker, Kate Baker, and the rest of the team.

Stingrays 4 - Hammerheads 0

In a game that saw both teams playing short handed, the Stingrays were able to prevail and score on the Hammerheads giving them the victory. Goals for the Stingrays were scored by Adam Tenolsky, Steve Devaney (2) and Chris Kyle with assists going to Jason Malen, Fred Hohn and Michael Costello. BOW: Steve Devaney and Adam Tenolsky. Stingrays.

Piranhas 11 - Sharks 0

The Piranhas could do nothing wrong in their game against the Sharks. The Piranhas came out like gangbusters and scoring was done by Colin Nix (2), Gregg Shapiro, Peter Dennett, Michael Pierro

Green Plates

Registrar of Motor Vehicles Alan Mackey advises that all passenger vehicle number plates, with the exception of Dealer, Repair, Farm and Motorcycle plates, should be green on silver. Motorists displaying red on silver plates should contact their local registry office.

Some motorists have attached the current green plates to the rear of their vehicles, while continuing to display the expired red plates on the front. Mackey warns that the red plates on the front of a vehicle are a violation of state law and could result in a citation.

Fitness

Three exercise classes will begin June 25 at New England Memorial Hospital's air conditioned auditorium in Storeham. For further information, call the hospital's health education department.

Exercise for Health meets on Mondays and Wednesdays and is designed for people who want to exercise but must do it slowly. This class is suited for those with bad backs, arthritis, or who are overweight. Aerobics, also meeting on Mondays and Wednesday, will increase blood flexibility and cardiovascular fitness.

Women's Fitness will meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays and will utilize stretching and tonics to work on all the body's major muscle groups.

The word queue is the only word in the English language that is still pronounced the same way when the last four letters are removed.

Andover Firm Develops Territory Analysis System

Geographic Systems Inc. of Andover has developed a major new software capability called Geostar that performs territory analysis and realignment based on commonly available market data and/or user supplied data, the company announced. According to the company, Geostar (Geographic Sales Territory Analysis and Realignment) is an English language, menu-driven software package which can be used to build or realign market territories based on supply and demand market data. Territories may be built which evenly distribute demand or minimize aggregate distance. Further capabilities allow Geostar to allocate and build territories around existing territories or other specifically selected territories.

Sales territory analysis and realignment is one of the thorniest problems facing sales management, commented Spencer Joyner, GSI executive vice president. The efficiency of a sales or service organization depends upon territories that are clearly defined, well balanced in potential, contiguous, and compact. Creating territories which are compact, exhaustive and approximately equal in total demand is a geographic process that is impossible to visualize without extensive modeling capabilities that are integrated with other data sources which measure sales potential or coverage.

GSI is the developer of Geomarketing, an innovative approach to solving marketing problems that integrates methods and techniques of demographics, geography, cartography and market research. Geomarketing's specialized software and geographic data management tools solve business problems dealing with the location and allocation of resources such as sales offices, distribution and service centers, sales call activity, direct mail and marketing efforts.

Geostar is completely integrated with other Geomarketing tools, according to the company. An output file from Geostar is a cross reference file which may be mapped directly with Geomap or be used as input to Geobuild to create a custom Geobase, a digitized representation of territory boundaries.

Named Raytheon Manager

Ronald E. Guittarr, 16 Shaw Drive, Andover, has been named manager of community relations for Raytheon Company, Lexington.

He will be responsible for the planning and implementation of the company's community relations program at the local and state levels.

Since joining the company in 1956, Guittarr has held a number of responsible industrial relations positions in two company divisions and on the corporate staff. For the past 17 years he was manager of industrial relations for the Missile Systems Division plant at Andover.

Guittarr received a bachelor's degree in business administration from the University of New Hampshire and has done graduate work at Boston College, Boston University, Harvard University and the University of Michigan.

Guittarr is married to the former Barbara R. Atkinson, daughter of Mrs. Alberta Atkinson, La Jolla, Calif. They have four children: Debra, 24; Mark, 23; Dawn and Douglas, 18.

Guittarr is director of the Merrimack Valley United Way, Lawrence Boys' Club, Lawrence Red Cross, Men of Merrimack, Community Savings Bank of Lawrence, Raytheon Employees Credit Union and Bon Secours Guild.

Mass. Plates Now Green

The Registry of Motor Vehicles recently completed the conversion of Massachusetts license plates (except dealer repair, farm and motorcycle) from red to green.

Registrar of Motor Vehicles Alan Mackey advises motorists that it is illegal to display plates of two colors. Motorists having red plates on their vehicle should contact their local registry.

Maryann J. Barraclough, manager of the Andover office of Bank of New England, Bay State, has been promoted to assistant vice president.

Miss Barraclough has been associated with the bank for 16 years in various supervisory capacities. She has completed banking courses sponsored by the American Institute of Banking.

She is a resident of Seabrook, N.H.

Gillette Sales

Sales and earnings of The Gillette Company were higher than the corresponding quarter of 1983. Colman M. Mockler, chairman and chief executive officer, told the annual meeting of stockholders at Andover.

Sales for the three months ended March 31, 1984, were $523,449,000, an increase of 5 percent from $497,450,000 in 1983. Profit from operations was $77,836,000, up 16 percent from $67,224,000 a year earlier. Pretax income was $59,793,000, compared with $50,675,000 in the first quarter of last year, up 18 percent. Net income of $35,278,000 increased 14 percent from $30,924,000 in 1983.

Earnings per share of $1.15 compared with $1.02 the prior year.

Sales of Gillette North America rose from the level of the first quarter of 1983 and operating profits were slightly ahead. Gillette International's sales were up slightly and operating profits rose sharply. Braun had level sales, but operating profits were higher than the comparable period of last year.

Mockler said that sales in most countries abroad continued to be negatively affected by lower foreign currency rates of exchange used to translate local currencies into United States dollars.

Judicial Nomination Approved

The Executive Council has approved the nomination of an Andover man to a judicial post in a district court.

Maurice Schwartz, 7 Timothy Drive, will be sworn in as an associate justice in the Amesbury District Court probably by the end of the summer, he said. The 61-year-old attorney, who will leave his Lawrence general law practice, was approved by a close three-to-two vote at the Wednesday, May 30, council meeting in Boston.

Schwartz's approval follows that of Joseph A. Grasso, 53 Juniper Road, who will sit in the Lowell District Court as an associate justice. Grasso received a unanimous vote from the council.

Voting for Schwartz were councillors John F. Markey from North Andover, who is Andover's representative on the judicial decision-making board, Edward M. O'Brien and Joseph A. Langone. Voting against Schwartz were Peter L. Ellev and Herbert L. Connolly. Councillors John Britland and Lee Tuto were absent. Schwartz told THE TOWNSMAN he needs five or six weeks to finish his work at his practice, which he must do by law in order to become a judge. His daughter, Pamela S. Schwartz, will continue on, he said.

Bargaining Session Is Closed

The teachers and School Committee bargaining session in a closed door executive session last week to discuss bargaining strategies but committee Chairman Thomas W. Robb would not specify what the discussions were about.

When asked, Robb did say the meeting was not necessarily about the ongoing negotiations with the school administrators, whose contract expired at the end of this month. And superintendent Kenneth R. Serret told THE TOWNSMAN that bargaining discussions could be about anything from bus contracts to the cost of food in the school cafeterias.

The Public Forum

4. A ride on the school bus with the older children is educational for the young ones and the older ones alike. Riding on the bus with an older sibling or neighborhood child offers much more security than riding with a bus load of other 3-to-6-year old strangers.

5. Why do we have neighborhood grade schools rather than a school for kindergartners (a fact now), another school for first and second graders, another for third and fourth graders, etc.?

For the sake of my four year old who will be entering kindergarten in 1985 and all the other future kindergartners, I wish the staff of the new center much success.

Soccer

2). Tim Parker, Brandon Stafford, Adam Winship, Brian Novelline and Stuart Mackey with assist by Mackey (4). Mike Pierre (2). BOW: Entire Piranhas team. Jay Flannelly, Kenny Harvey and Matt Desrussseau (Sharks).

Marlins 2 - Makos 1

The Marlins were able to get on the scoreboard in the first half of play with goals by Joey Hastings and Jason Hastings with an assist going to Jason and Eric Giuliano. The Makos fought back and, in the fourth period, Kevin Smith passed to Steven Santos for the score. BOW: Phil Bellizia, Paul Jayne and Pete Caramanis (Marlins) and John Teichert, Chad Gomes and Billy Henderson (Makos).

Lynx 2 - Bobcats 1

The Bobcats were first on the scoreboard but were not able to deny the Lynx with two goals being scored in the fourth period giving the victory to the Lynx. Lynx goals were scored by Michelle Doucette and Patsy Murphy with an assist going to Jennifer Brodie. Excellent goaltending by Jessica Demoulas prevented the Bobcats from scoring. BOW: Cheryl Lary and Stephanie Weiner (Lynx).

Cougars 3 - Lions 0

The Cougars were able to get three goals in their game against the Lions giving them the shutout victory. Two unassisted goals for the Cougars, one by Nicole Belleisle, the other by Amy Brockelsby, and the last goal was scored by Michelle Toth on a pass from Brockelsby. BOW: Diane Gorman, Gwendy Duff and Amy Daniels (Cougars) and Melissa Eckman and Leanna Mills (Lions).

Lynx 0 - Lions 1

During the second period of their game against the Lions, the Lions were able to score when Melissa Eckman passed to Bridget Guerrero. The Lynx kept the pressure on and a great save by Danville goaltender prevented a tie. BOW: Colleen Doran and Jessica Demoulas (Lynx) and Peggy Lary (Lions).

Panthers 0 - Pumas 0

The Panthers played shutout in their game against the Pumas but were able to hold together to prevent any scoring. Both teams played strong in the aggressive first half of the game in a tie. BOW: Karen Bouchard and Paula Costello (Panthers) and Jennifer Wu and Tracy Paul (Pumas).

Cougars 1 - Tigers 0

In a game that was shortened due to the heat, the Cougars were able to come away victorious when Jessica Wyndol carried the ball the entire length of the field for the goal. The Tigers played short-handed and did an excellent job with each girl playing the entire game. BOW: The entire Tigers team and Christine Spignesi and Darlene Prochniak (Cougars).

Under 10 Division

Rubys 0 - Opals 2

The Opals were able to get on the away with the win when they scored two goals in their game against the Rubys. The goals came in the fourth period when Carmella Saprenza scored on a pass from Hannah Norton. The Opals were passed to Norton for the score. BOW: Amy DeCham and Mary Austin (Opals) and Sasha Alsop and Robin LaPointe (Rubys).

Sapphires 4 - Emeralds 0

The Sapphires were able to come away with the victory in their game against the Emeralds with goals by Amy O'Sullivan, Julie Morrison and Jennifer Toth. Amy O'Sullivan and Jennifer Toth scored in the fourth period. The Emeralds kept the pressure on and a great save by the Sapphires prevented a tie. BOW: Patsy Murphy, Patsy Murphy and Patsy Murphy (Sapphires) and Patsy Murphy (Emeralds).

Rubys 1 - Crystals 0

The Rubys were able to post their first victory of the season in this low scoring game against the Crystals. No scoring occurred until the fourth period when Honor McNaughton was able to carry the ball and score unassisted, to give the victory to the Rubys. BOW: Kristen McAllister, Sasha Alsop and Jennifer Weir (Rubys).

Audubon Camps

The Massachusetts Audubon Society is offering a series of camps for children at the Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary in Topsfield.

Indian Summer: for children who have completed grade 3 or 4, from July 23-August 1, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The program combines nature interpretation with the Indian way of life. This is a two-week camp.

Accompany: for children who have completed grade 5 or 6, from August 6-10, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. This program focuses on the study of nature, observation in natural history and staff work with small groups in developing that program. This is an overnight in the second week with a night hike.

Study Skills

The special services office at Middlesex Community College will offer a series of free Study Skills Workshops beginning Wednesday, June 27. The five one-hour workshops will be held on Wednesdays beginning at 10:30 a.m. at the Burlington Campus and again on Thursdays at 10:30 a.m. Workshop topics include: "Managing Study Time" (June 27 or 28); "Recording and Remembering Lecture Notes" (July 11 or 12); "How to get the Most from Your Textbook" (July 18 or 19); "Improving Your Memory" (July 25 or 26); and "How to Prepare for and Take Exams" (August 1 or 2). Each workshop involves immediate application of the skills being discussed with additional individual assistance available by appointment. These workshops should be particularly helpful for recent high school graduates or adults who will enter college programs this fall.

To reserve a place or for further information, contact Stan Hitron or Kit Beaudouin at Middlesex Community College Special Services.

On Committee

A June 19 Women's Breakfast at the Sheraton-Boxboro will demonstrate support for Chet Atkins, candidate for Congress in the Fifth Congressional District. State Senators Patricia McGovern and Carol Amick, State Representatives Susan Tucker, Doris Bunte, Barbara Hild, and Susan Schur and local women M.J. Powell and Harriet Ahouse are among the 132 sponsors of the event.

Tickets are available by contacting the Atkins for Congress Committee. They will also be available at the door at 7:45 a.m.

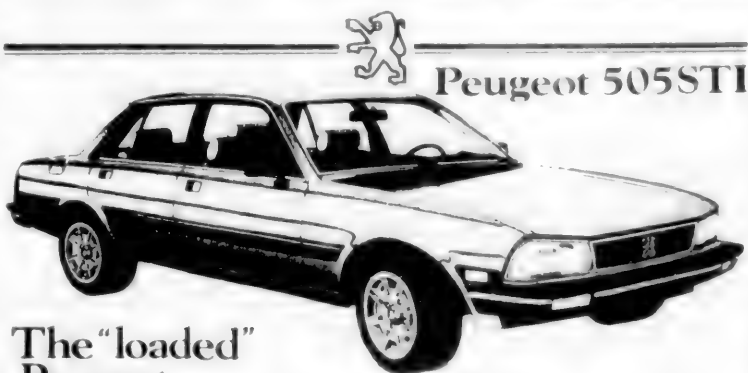

State Senator Chet Atkins (D-Concord) is running for the Congressional seat being vacated by James Shannon. He is chairman of the Senate Ways and Means Committee and the State Democratic Party. Atkins was first elected to state office in 1970 when, as a senior at Antioch College, he ran for the Massachusetts House of Representatives. He was elected State Senator from the Middlesex and Worcester the District in 1977 and has served in this capacity since then.

Seifert

me think I am sensitive. But those that don't know me wouldn't think that about me.

As for his work with school committee members the superintendent said that through the years each one has been intelligent and had a sense of purpose about their work. They aren't paid for the long hours they put in governing the schools, said Seifert, and none of them take their positions lightly. When asked what this year's five-member board thought of him, the superintendent just shrugged and said "we'll find out about that."

What his constituency, the 5,000 public school students, think about him would probably be different depending on who you talk to, said Seifert. At one time he used to teach a leadership course at Andover High School. And group dynamics seminars with the faculty were another aspect of teaching he enjoyed, said Seifert. But both have had to stop as his administrative work has increased.

There is a part of Seifert that transcends the budgetary constraints under which he must work each day. A mental "wish list," too rich for Andover's finances, includes what Seifert calls a "school-to-school program" that would teach students and their teachers how students in other cultures live and learn by sending groups of them overseas in an exchange program. Another idea would teach young students about change by changing the way their classrooms look overnight, to learn about how they would react and adapt. And then there is the "Thomas Edison Institute" idea. For a half a day on Friday, Seifert explained, he would bring some of the area's older citizens into the classrooms to teach students a variety of skills, trades and ideas.

In fact an interest in how the schools could better become involved with senior citizens made Seifert realize he wasn't coming into contact with elderly persons on his own. So the superintendent made some elderly friends and visits them regularly. He admitted that what started off as an idea to help a few local senior citizens has turned around and is helping him.

"These people have given me much more than I have given them," Seifert said. "They have a very clear perspective of the world."

Superintendents, on the average, stay in a town for less than four years, said Seifert, adding that he isn't sure how long he will stay in his $57,000 job. In 1975 Seifert was offered a job as commissioner of education, in another state. He turned it down because he wanted his children to stay in Andover schools, and he said he felt he had made a commitment to Andover that he wouldn't have fulfilled by leaving.

But the time will come, Seifert said, when he isn't challenged enough, doesn't provide enough stability or security for the school system and knows another person could do his job better, a time when he becomes frustrated because he can't make his dreams for Andover's schools a reality. But when that will be, Seifert confessed, he doesn't know, "but there will come a time when I will be changing," he said.

Funeral Home

residential purposes. Caffrey answered that it was not "economically feasible" to use the land as it was now but added that he didn't "have an expert to testify" that no one would live in the home. Wesley countered saying that "The way people are spending money these days," it wouldn't surprise him if someone would build a home on Neal's property.

Roy Umanzio, 331 South Main St., told the board he knew a lot of neighbors would have liked the right of first refusal on the property. Umanzio said the property was "the gateway to Andover" and as such placing a funeral home there would destroy that image.

"We are going to keep that damn South Main Street the way it is," argued Umanzio. "It is going to be residential."

Caffrey told the board that his client could also meet all the requirements for a home occupation if he were to run a funeral business out of home. Several board members chuckled at the suggestion. After the meeting Caffrey was asked by THE TOWNSMAN if Bekkenhuis was planning to go the home occupation route if the vote was turned down. The attorney said he had discussed the idea with Bekkenhuis.

The only funeral home in town is the Burke Memorial Home, at 390 North Main St. The Lundgren Funeral Home, at 18 Elm St., closed at the end of March and is to become a restaurant.

Soccer

Diamonds 4 - Jades 0

The Diamonds were able to penetrate the Jades defense for four goals, giving them the victory points. Goals were scored by Heachter McNemar, Beth Everett, Ari Boutin and Elizabeth Davies with assists by Lindsay Sweeney, Davies (2) and Boutin. The tight Diamond defense prevented the Jades from scoring. BOW: Marcie Pugh, Jennifer Join and Robin McLellan (Jades) and Jennifer Ashlock and Jennifer Tuper (Diamonds).

Topaz 2 - Pearls 0

The Topaz were able to prevail and Nicole Poisson scored twice in the fourth period, giving them the victory over the Pearls. BOW: The entire Topaz team for playing under extreme weather conditions.

Opals 2 - Garnets 1

At the end of the first half the score was tied in the game between the Opals and Garnets with the Opals' goal coming from Carmella Sapienza on a pass from Sarah Witham. Sapienza scored again in the second half on a pass from Tara Wrobel, giving the Opals the victory. BOW: Debbie Vallee and Leah Bernstein (Opals).

Mercedes 2 - Mustangs 3

The Mustangs were first on the scoreboard with two unassisted goals, one by Doug Batchelder and the other by Gus Quattlebaum. They were able to add one more goal when Joshua Payne passed to John Bowman, which proved to be the winning goal. The Mercedes kept the pressure on and Andrew Novelline scored on a penalty kick, then passed to Dan McKew for the other Mercedes' goal. The Mercedes kept trying, but were unable to get another goal. BOW: Matthew Wolcott and Ricky Redman (Mercedes) and Jere Carroll, John Camillus and Rodney Lumley (Mustangs).

Jaguars 4 - Thunderbirds 2

The Thunderbirds played shorthanded in their game against the Jaguars who proved to be too strong for them. The Thunderbirds' two goals came from penalty shots, one by Reiji Hayes and the other by Billy Sullivan. John-Christopher Martin (2) and Shawn McMasters (2) scored the Jaguars' goals with an assist by Tim Grogan. BOW: Aaron Russo and Shawn McMaster (Jaguars) and Richie Meyers, Paul Bernardin, Kevin Foltz, Paul Johnson and David Nicolaisen (Thunderbirds).

Mustangs 1 - Masarrattis 0

The Mustangs were able to prevail and take the victory in their game against the Masarrattis with the lone goal scored by Gus Quattlebaum in the third period. Both teams played excellent defense preventing any other scoring. BOW: John Zimmer, Doug Batchelder and Ethan Krashoo (Mustangs) and Todd Green, Evan Duff and Mark Elzweig (Masarrattis).

Mercedes 5 - Ferraris 1

The Mercedes were able to prevail in their make-up game against the Ferraris with goals by Danny McQue (2), Andy Novelline (2) and Greg Poore with assists from Novelline (2), Ricky Redman and Brendan Sullivan. The Ferraris were able to get on the scoreboard, preventing the shutout. BOW: Robbie Weisman and Anthony Solari (Mercedes).

Masarrattis 2 - Corvettes 1

The third period proved to be the difference for the Masarrattis when Steve Kulscar and Danny Wrigley were able to break through the Corvettes' defense and score. They were assisted by Jason Benedict (2) and Kulscar. Good defensive work by both teams prevented any further scoring. BOW: Steve Kulscar, Allen Soong and Josh Kelley (Masarrattis).

Law School Graduate To Teach At Harvard

Richard K. Gordon Jr.

Richard K. Gordon Jr. passed up an offer at a large New York City law firm for a job teaching people from poor countries how to collect their taxes.

Gordon, who grew up on Lowell Street, just graduated from Harvard Law School and has accepted a two-year position as director of training at the International Tax Program at Harvard. The son of Richard and Helen Gordon, he has also been named a Harvard fellow in law and will be teaching tax administration and comparative tax policy courses at Harvard this fall.

Now a Cambridge resident, Gordon, who is 28, has been using his law knowledge to help those less fortunate than him for the last few years. He has volunteered at the Jamaica Plain Legal Services Center, where he worked with indigent persons having trouble with immigration law. He was also a volunteer at the Prison Legal Office at Harvard, where he represented inmates. Gordon is a Harvard Law School and Harvard College teaching assistant, and he spent all of last year on a Harvard fellowship in India.

Gordon did try out the corporate law so many of his Harvard friends go into. During the summers as a law student, while he worked for large firms in Boston and New York City. He was also a legal aide to Rep. James Shannon in Washington after graduating from New York University in 1980. Gordon is a Phi Kappa Phi Academy class of 1984 graduate.

As director of the tax program at Harvard, Gordon will help teach about 20 people from poor or underdeveloped nations how to create a tax system in their country. Some countries are almost impossible to explain tax instruction, he explained, and they need to know how to have their taxes collected and returned to the proper officials, not pocketed by the local government, as has often been the case, said Gordon.

Next fall's participants in Gordon's program will come from Pakistan, Nepal, Tanzania, Kenya, Papua New Guinea, and other Latin American, he said. In addition to teaching and doing administrative work at the tax center, Gordon is also expected to do research and produce books for the end of his two-year program.

Five Get Pins At North Essex

Five local residents received nursing pins to symbolize the end of their nursing program at a ceremony at Northern Essex Community College, Haverhill.

Honored among the 53 students at the Sunday, June 3, ceremony, was June Fitzgerald, 322 River Road. Also awarded pins, from North Andover, were Beth Pahlman, 252 Sutton Hill Road, Kevin Phair, 117 Pleasant St.; Sandra Watson, 151 Raleigh Tavern Lane, and Eva-Marie Westphalen, 24 Main Drive.

Canning

The food science and nutrition department at the Essex Agricultural and Technical Institute in Danvers will again offer home canners the opportunity to use, without charge, the processing facilities and equipment at the school. The canning center will be operated on a non-profit basis and will be used to promote good safe canning procedures and to stimulate agriculture in Massachusetts through home gardening and farmers' markets.

The center will open June 19 for two four-hour sessions a day, five days a week. For more information and reservations, call the school.

Individuals must supply their own produce and mason jars. Samples of each batch will be tested by the staff to insure safety.

DISCRETIONARY BUYING

If you're new to homeowning and real estate, you may never have heard the term "discretionary buying." For many years it didn't exist. Housing was so tight and mortgage money so high that people stayed put. If they had someone to live, they didn't move. Of course, those who picked up and followed a job across the country were exceptions.

Now we're hearing about discretionary buying again, because people are beginning to move when they simply want to, or because they can now afford a bigger, better, more attractive home. More lending money available at better rates has to some extent made this possible.

If you've considered moving up, or if you just want to sell and try a different location or a different lifestyle, this is a good time to put your property on the market. There are plenty of willing buyers out there who are ready to move.

To get a handle on your equity, let a professional market your property. An experienced real estate broker is in a position to market your home most effectively, negotiate for you, and help you end up with the best return. List with

SPECIFY WHAT STAYS OR GOES

Probably the most important document in the sale of a home is the purchase & sales contract. In order to save a lot of aggravation, post-sale bickering, and possible lawsuits, the area of which items will stay and which will go should be specified in the contract.

Know the difference between chattels which can be picked up and moved without leaving nail holes and fixtures which have been attached with the intention of their becoming part of the real estate (furnace, fence, garage disposal, etc.). Fixtures are expected to remain with the property. Items like wall-to-wall carpeting, smoke alarms, and fireplace equipment should be specified in the contract to avoid confusion about what stays and what goes. Two unusual troublesome items are the hot water and tank lighting fixtures. People have strong emotional attachments to chandeliers. Don't get bogged down over such little matters. Simply make sure your offer stipulates that all fixtures remain except specific ones you're willing to give up.

Andover Country Club Estates

For those families still seeking the privacy, space and luxury only possible with single family living, Andover Country Club Estates offers the finest real estate investment opportunity available today.

Built on an expansive acre site surrounding the Andover Country Club 18 hole championship golf course, this protected community of 250 homesites has its own private roads, forests, and ponds.

Each home is distinctly different, from traditional to Tudor, and finished to your personal specifications with nine or ten classically appointed rooms including a library, family room, fireplaces, loft play room, two car garage, and all appliances. Top quality workmanship is by Yvon Cormier construction and includes town sewerage and gas lines.

Home of prestigious Phillips Academy, Andover is a vibrant town buzzing with community activity. Over half of all tax dollars support its outstanding public school system. Minutes to both Interstates 495 and 93, an easy thirty minute commute to Boston, and less than one hour's drive to beach and ski areas, Andover Country Club Estates combines the serenity of a natural setting with easy accessibility to metropolitan Boston.

The Answer To

Roadblock Result

Andover state police chased a Derry, New Hampshire, couple five miles through Andover and North Andover after they failed to stop at a state police operated road block on Route 28 Saturday night.

Gary and Susan Smith, of Derry, were arrested in front of Merrimack College, in North Andover, early Sunday morning. They were pursued from the roadblock in front of the Ground Round Restaurant, in the northbound lane of Rt. 28. The Smiths were the only arrests made, according to State Police Sargent Gerry Tully, of the Andover barracks, who was at the road stop.

Gary Smith, 31, was charged with operating while intoxicated, speeding, operating to endanger and failure to stop for a police officer. Susan Smith, 30, was charged with assault and battery on a police officer, said Tully.

About 100 people driving through the roadblock were stopped on Saturday, said Tully. The detour lasted from about 12 midnight to 3 a.m., Sunday morning.

A typical stop takes about 20 seconds, said Tully. The officers talk to the driver and passengers if there are any, looking for signs of intoxication or open alcohol containers. If a driver is believed to be intoxicated the car and driver are motioned over to a holding area where the driver must perform a field sobriety test that involves motor coordination exercises and speech and balance tests. If the driver fails the test he or she is read their rights and arrested.

The roadblock was one of many held in the area over the past few months. They were initiated by Massachusetts Governor Michael S. Dukakis to reduce the number of persons driving drunk. According to Tully the state police officers operating a roadblock don't know about it until an hour or so before the area is to be set up. Tully said he believes the roadblocks, in difference places each time, will continue through the busy July 4 and Labor Day weekends.
